TEACHES HOW TO BE CITIZEN

Wisconsin Opens Class at Madison July 18

MADISON, Wis., July 14.—Wisconsin's first state-wide school of citizenship will be held at Madison in the state capital on July 18, 19 and 20, according to plans completed by the University Extension Division, co-operating with the Wisconsin League of Women Voters.

The school will offer a nonpartisan course in municipal, state and national government, political parties, international relations, and the relation of legislation to social welfare. The idea of the school originated with members of the League of Women Voters and is being promoted for the purpose of obtaining better citizenship.

On the program will be addresses by Miss Emily Knabholz, national political education lecturer, Governor J. J. Blaine, President E. A. Birge of the university, Graham Stuart, Ford MacGregor, Attorney General R. L. Elson, M. V. O'Shea, Professor J. L. Gillin, and many other prominent professors of the University.

Special entertainment is being arranged for the three days of the school.

AMERICAN FOOD MAKES

PARIS 'JOCKEY' FAMOUS

PARIS, July 14.—Fried chicken, corn on the cob, wheat cakes, hamburger sandwiches and other essentials to the ordinary American's diet, which have hitherto been unknown here, have made a little place called "The Jockey," on the Boulevard Montparnasse in the Latin quarter, famous.

Curious Frenchmen and jewel-laden society women fill the place nightly, eager to sup "à l'Americaine."

The Jockey is owned and managed by three Americans: Les Copeland, well-known cabaret singer, of San Francisco; Walter Miller, who holds the world's record for winning mounts by riding eleven birds in twelve starts in two days' racing in America, and Vernon Campbell, formerly an American aviator and now a business man here.

In one Yorkshire parish, in England, every house except the vicarage was condemned as unsanitary before the war, yet most of them are still in use.

Franklin Schools Americanization Class is the 'Melting Pot' For 29 Nationalities

FOREIGN BORN TAUGHT IDEALS

Famous Institution Moulds Future Citizens

Ranking among the greatest schools in the South, Franklin school has an additional claim to greatness—that of being a "melting pot."

For Franklin school has 29 nationalities represented in its Americanization classes, and here hundreds of foreign-born boys and girls are taught the high ideals of Americanism, its language and its customs.

Children of foreign-born parents go into the public school of Port Arthur and in a few years there is little to distinguish them from their native-born playmates. Antonio's eyes, black as jet, mark him as no son of the prairies, and there is at times a whiff of garlic about him. Yet by the time he is of high school age he talks and thinks about the same as the son of Mr. Blank, who has papers to show that his forebears came over in the next ship after the Mayflower.

Many Can't Be Reached

But what becomes of the older boys and girls who do not care to associate with their classmates at school, and who at times are shunned by them, and the fathers and mothers upon whose shoulders rests the responsibility of supporting families while adjusting themselves to new customs?

This is the question social workers and teachers of Americanization classes in the Franklin school ask themselves. They know that they are not getting satisfactory results.

There's Rosa. That's not her real name. Rosa, when this story begins, was 15 and pretty as any of her classmates. Her own young brother admitted she was. Bobbed hair, nose a bit, black eyes that danced with the pure joy of life—that was Rosa.

Rosa might have grown up to become a regular American housewife, with washings to be hung out on Monday and woman's club papers to be read on Thursdays, if her mother had been Americanized. But Rosa was adopted as a companion by a girl three years her senior, who led her into escapades that made the hardened ears of the judge burn when he heard of them.

The mother was glad that another girl who knew the ways of the fine Americans was taking an interest in her daughter. She welcomed this other girl into her home, the new home in the Promised Land. And right under her ears the two girls planned the steps that led Rosa into court. The mother didn't understand English.

The Port Arthur public schools, until the beginning of the last half of the last term, offered instruction to foreign children in English in classes made up exclusively of these children. But owing to the great increase in the number of pupils in Franklin school there was not sufficient room and the class was discontinued. The children were taken into other classes with native-born children.

Night Citizenship School

Miss Lauretta Burnham has been teaching the foreign children, taking the place of Miss Carrie Terrier who, until this past term, when she took up the work of mental tests and measurements together with the unclassified group of children, devoted her entire time to the citizenship class. Miss Terrier feels sure that this class again will be organized as soon as the school buildings, now under construction, are completed. Through the night school, where the classes are taught by Miss Wayne Young, the public schools offered instruction to foreigners in English and citizenship.

No person in either the night school or the day school was able to devote her time exclusively to Americanization work, according to Miss Terrier. There is no one to reach foreign mothers by personal visits and win their confidence; no one with time to encourage the father and mother, and even older children to attend the night school. And many need to be urged, for it frequently means much sacrifice on their part to go through with the courses. If one does not think it worth while to encourage the foreigners to take up the Americanization work be need only visit one of the English and Americanization classes.

In the classes taught by Miss Terrier last year as many as 29 nationalities were represented, and Miss Terrier knew no foreign language.

"Who can tell me my name?" the teacher asks. Blank stares.

"Miss Terrier," the instructor says, pointing to herself. "Miss Terrier." Then smiles, like the sun breaking through clouds, as understanding dawns, and a babel of voices repeats her name.

The foreigners learn as an American child picks up words from its parents.

Moulding Plastic Minds

"None," the instructor says, pointing to that member.

"None, none, none," the students echo.

"None," the teacher repeats, opening wide the mouth to give the long o, and motioning for her pupils to relax their jaws.

"Door," she says, walking to the door and swinging it back and forth. So the lessons go on. Words are associated with objects at first, then with the letters and the sounds they represent. Next words are formed in sentences, and the foreigner is on his way not only to speaking, as the naturalization requires, but to reading and writing the "American" language.

And do they like America, these immigrants, longcome as they must feel among so many strangers?

"Yes, Katherine, do you like America?"

"Much, yes," comes eagerly from the young girl who but a few weeks ago was turning her back on Hungary.

"And, Molly, are you going back to Russia?"

"No never," answers Molly in a tone of wonderment that anybody should ask the question. Molly's eyes are steel blue, and there seem to be pictures before them as her thoughts revert to Russia—sunny pictures. One feels sure Molly will not go back to Russia.

And Amelia? Ah, Amelia! In his enthusiasm for America he bubbles forth in his native tongue. Amelia going back to Italy? Just look what he had been in this land but six months: "I say the truth, I love this country very much. Here every man can find work at any place." Is it not there in his exercise book?

"I tell you I love this country very much," he insists.

Americans Can Learn, Too

And the ordinary American, who has taken his blessing as a matter of course and found much time for grumbling, begins to wonder if he hasn't been missing something.

It also makes him feel a little embarrassed to listen to the class in Americanization tell him things about own country and that he remembers vaguely having read something, somewhere. The preamble to the constitution, he learns from Valerius, really doesn't begin with "Give me liberty or give me death."

Foolish of him to have thought that. How'd he ever come to confuse one of Thomas Jefferson's speeches—or was it Henry Patrick's—with the constitution? Maybe there ought to be Americanization classes for Americans, maybe.

In one of the Americanization classes in Port Arthur there was a son of Athens who had lived 18 years in this country without knowing that congress makes our laws. He is fairly prosperous, too, with a small business and a balance to his credit in the bank. No American had taken the trouble to interest him in the government of the land of his adoption.

But now, since attending the Americanization classes he has learned of many things of America.

SAYS PASTORS GET PITTANCE

Minister Claims Pay Rates Common Labor

NEW YORK, July 14.—In a sermon Dr. Malcolm J. MacLeod, pastor of the Church of St. Nicholas, 8th avenue and 49th street, said the church is the richest institution in America, even richer than the United States Steel Corporation or the Standard Oil company, yet in spite of all this "opulence and affluence" the church keeps point than any industrial organization in the whole country.

Mr. MacLeod's subject was "The Underpaid Preacher," which he based on Paul's words, "I know how to abound."

Tells Cause of Clamor

"There's a good deal of clamoring and railing in our country today against rich men," he said. "There always has been and I suppose there always will be. But I think the clamoring and railing is not against rich men, but as Bishop Brooks has so well said, 'against rich men who do not know how to be rich.' It is the rich man's use of wealth that the poor man impeaches. It is his supercilious, unblinking, splurging, pompous grandeur."

"Does the church know how to abound? As the most opulent and affluent and corpulent of all institutions, her workmen are nearer the hunger point than any industrial corporation organized under the laws of our commonwealth."

Not a 'Living Wage'

"Mr. Will Hays, the Presbyterian elder of movie fame, delivered an address before the Presbyterian general assembly three weeks ago, in which he gave expression to some very startling figures. Two out of every three clergymen in the United States are paid less than $1,000 a year. In 1916 there were 170,000 active clergymen in the United States, and of these 170,000 only 1,673 reported incomes in excess of $3,000."

"Perhaps the Presbyterian is the highest paid minister of any denomination in America. His average salary is $1,893 a year. This is $34.67 a week. A male skinner gets $40.30 a week. A leather cutter, in shoe-making receives $38.11 a week. The facts prove that the minister is the poorest paid workman even in the ranks of unskilled labor. His hours of labor are from 10 to 12 hours a day, seven days a week."

"To say that a minister's recompense is found in the joy he gets out of his work and the good he is able to do may sound very beautiful and angelic, but when we get down to the cold, hard facts of living, it is just plain, pious, platitudinous humbug."

Some Miracle Called For

"How can any mortal interpret the laws of civic betterment, not to speak of the laws of the kingdom of God, if he cannot honorably look his fellow man in the face? How can a woman be a leader in the missionary society, if her husband owes the butcher and the baker, whose wives are sitting down there in front listening to her?"

"Of course, if you want your minister to be a beggar or a parasite, it's all right. If you want to rob him of his masculine independence in the social structure, if you want him to be what the grocer and storekeeper call a 'bad egg' or a 'deadbeat' because he doesn't pay his house debts, then this policy is ideal."

"So long as the church is organized as it is and you demand that he keep up a certain standard of living, so long then do you owe him freedom from financial care, immunity from over anxiety about tomorrow."

Raise Large Purses

"For the cure of their clergy the Episcopal church has raised $14,000,000; the Baptists, $9,000,000; Presbyterians, $8,000,000; and the Methodists, $17,000,000. The Reformed church is now trying to raise $1,000,000 in order to pay every minister who has reached an age of 60 years an annual allowance of $600. There is no unsound argument against this bill. It is our great hope to celebrate our 300th anniversary in 1925 with this full amount and more raised."

DOG STUCK IN FENCE

WEEK ALMOST STARVES

PETERSBURG, Ind., July 14.—O. D. Harris, who lost his foxhound while fox hunting, found the animal a week later fastened in a fence. The dog was almost starved, and to free himself had almost bitten his leg off.

Mr. Harris brought the animal to this city, where a veterinary amputated the leg, and as soon as the wound heals Mr. Harris will have a wooden leg made.

There are altogether about 400 street telephone booths in England.

BEAR SEES MAN, CLIMBS A TREE

Both Nervous When Former Sights Him

BELLEFONTAINE, Pa., July 14.—George Irwin, a Spruce Creek valley farmer, had a scare the other day. He did a big bear that George found sitting in his wood lot.

George had ventured out to look over his trees. Suddenly out of the darkness of the underbrush he saw the gleam of the bear's eyes. George and the bear saw each other at about the same time, and each was about equally scared. George climbed one tree and the bear took refuge in the one next to it. The bear moved as far away from George as his tree would permit, and George copied him.

George's cries, the bear's noises, and the bark of George's dog, which enjoyed the performance from a safe place on the ground, brought a crowd of men. When the bear saw them he threw caution to the winds. He scrambled to earth, heavily rushed, past the barking dog, and made off to Eusey mountain.

Learn Bears' Profiles

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 14.—"Two black bear male cubs," cheap, or trade. Pay for themselves in one week. Attractive for outside confectionery stand. Call Boode, Hastings Tourist Camp.

Unfortunately for Mr. Boode, this advertisement caught the eye of a game warden with the result that two provincial police constables visited the Auto-Tourist camp, seized the bears, and carried them in crates to the police office at the court house.

The bears, about the size of large fox terriers, but much heavier, were not reconciled to the change of scenery. The police constables thought they were playful little fellows until one bit an officer in the hand.

The cubs have been seized because it is against the law for private individuals to keep them in captivity. They will be handed over to the Vancouver exhibition board as an addition to the Hastings park zoo.

Radio Fans Demoralize French Wire Service

PARIS, July 14.—Listeners in Paris who daily hear the concert broadcast by the Eiffel tower wireless are accused of adding to the already great confusion and disorganization of the telephone and telegraph service of France.

Knowledge of coming weather changes shown by birds is attributed to atmospheric pressure on their nerves.

Would Save Game Birds From Natural Enemies

OSWEGO, N.Y., July 14.—A campaign against all northwest sportsmen has started in this state to rid it of birds and animals which prey on game. Sportsmen are planned against the crow and his cousin, the magpie. These two birds, it is declared by the state game commissioner, annually destroy more birds of all kinds, more birds' eggs and fledglings than any other winged creature. Certain hawks, some owls and the weasel are placed under the ban and subject to immediate punishment by the gun toter. The state game farm will soon release 50,000 young pheasants, quail, grouse and partridges in the fields of the northwest, and they will need protection from flesh-eating birds. Whatop county is paying 3 cents bounty for crows, but few are offered, in spite of the presence of huge flocks.

New Glue Discovered During War Is Free For Use of Public

CHICAGO, July 14.—The United States forest products laboratory at Madison, Wis., has perfected a waterproof glue for use in woodworking which is dedicated to the free use of the people of the United States. Any one who needs waterproof glue can obtain the formula by asking for it.

This glue was discovered by government chemists during the war. It is of the casein-silicate type, but has been improved by the addition of copper salts.

The formula was formerly given free to private woodworking factories. Then some one whose name is not disclosed attempted to patent it, and threatened suits against competitors to make them quit using it. At this point the United States stepped in, and declared that the glue was to be free to all, and that the forest products laboratory should own the patent.

TORONTO, July 14.—Bursting of a 20-foot concrete dam holding an artificial lake on Hardy mountain, British Columbia, did $50,000 damage to the Donkhor colony and other property nearby. The dam was built by the Donkhor colony a few years ago, to provide water for irrigation purposes.

Smith-Harrison Wedding One of Most Elaborate Events of Summer Season

JULY, not to be outdone by June in furnishing its quota of brides, has been a month much favored by summer brides, and several pretty weddings have taken place during the past week. And there will be many other interesting events before the month draws to a close, if Dame Rumor can be relied upon.

One of the attractive weddings of the season and one around which centers the affectionate interest of a host of friends in Port Arthur took place Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at St. George's Episcopal church when Miss Alma Maude Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith, became the bride of Mr. Edward S. Harrison, Jr., son of Edward S. Harrison of Philadelphia, with the beautiful Episcopal service read by Rev. J. A. Frampton.

The church was in elaborate bridal adornment, the decorations conforming to the summer theme in attractive manner, being mainly confined to the altar space where plants and foliage formed a background to show in charming relief the floor baskets and vases filled with beautiful roses and white blossoms. The baskets topped with fluffy bows of pink and green tulle gave the motif for the decorative theme, which was developed in all details.

Preceding the ceremony Mr. W. D. Armitage sang "At Dawning," with accompaniment by Prof. A. M. Culpepper, the strains softly modulating into the Lohengrin music announcing the time for the ceremony. During the ceremony Prof. Culpepper played "Trauerlied" very softly.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a beautiful bridal costume of white tulle and lace with deep drapery and a full train of French flowers. Panels in the form of leaves of the flowers formed the draperies for the skirt. She wore a handsome picture hat of white tulle and roses and a veil of the same material.

The maid of honor, Miss Dovey Smith, the bride's sister, wore a chiffon frock of delicate pink and orchid and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. She wore a picture hat of pink and white tulle and a veil of the same material.

The best man was R. H. Bagley, Misses Lela Mae Smith and Dorothy Pittman made charming ushers in their pretty frocks of peacock blue tulle. One hundred guests attended the wedding, including which reception was tendered the bride party, and 25 intimate friends at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith, 2849 Sixth street.

The home was a tower of floral beauty, the dining room being especially attractive with the bride's table, spread with handsome Madeira cover, centered with the handsome wedding cake, an embossed confection, which was served with delicious punch and dainty accessories. Many beautiful and useful wedding gifts were on display at the home, attesting the esteem and love of many friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison left during the evening for a wedding tour of Houston, Galveston, San Antonio, Austin, and other Texas points, and on returning will be at home temporarily at 2849 Sixth street. The bride's traveling costume was a smart fall tailored model of the new camel-colored wool velvet, and her hat and accessories were in harmony.

The bride's gift to her attendant was a diamond brooch, and the bridesmaids were given handsome linen stationery. The groom's gift to his best man was gold cuff links, and Mr. Armitage was presented with a gold pencil.

The bride is a charming young woman and is a popular member of the younger set. She was a member of the graduating class of '22 of the Port Arthur high school and has been residing in Port Arthur. The groom is also well known here and is employed at the Gulf Refining company as a chemist. Mr. Harrison came to Port Arthur from Philadelphia, where his family settled in pioneer days, his ancestors playing a part in the Revolutionary war, and he, on the maternal side, being a direct descendant from "Mad" Anthony Wayne of American history fame.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. Harrison's father, Edward S. Harrison, Sr., and his aunt, Miss Emily Harrison of Philadelphia, and the bride's sister, Mrs. Arthur Halderman and little son, Herbert of Houston.

A BEVY of charming visitors have been enlivening the mid-summer dullness the past week, several delightful socials being recorded on last week's social calendar in their honor.

Among those receiving their quota of entertainment are Mrs. Elmer Russell of Houston, the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. W. Wiggins, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. L. Woodall, and Miss Emma Compton of Harrisburg, the guest of Mrs. Charles Stevenson.

Mrs. W. K. Steen, who left yesterday for St. Louis, Mo., to make her home, was feted extensively prior to her departure, the entertainments in her honor assisting in enlivening social activities.

A charming affair of Friday's social calendar complementing Mrs. Steen and these out-of-town visitors was the attractive bridge party at Mrs. C. A. Young's pretty home, "The House by the Side of the Road," with Mrs. Young and her sister, Mrs. C. A. Pearson as hosts.

The home was a bower of blossoms featuring pink crepe myrtle in attractive placing. The pink and green motif was further developed in the bridge table appointments, with evergreens to attend the wedding of Miss Alma Maude Smith and Mr. Edward S. Harrison, Jr. have returned to their home in Houston.

MRS. J. H. SMITH AND CHILDREN of 3416 Sixth street, will leave Monday for Lake Charles, La., for a vacation visit with Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Huston.

THE AMERICAN LEGION Auxiliary will meet in regular business session Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Legion club rooms. Following the business session a social hour will be enjoyed, with Mrs. H. K. Deason and Miss Carrie Terrier as hostesses.

THE DAY NURSERY BOARD will meet in an important session Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, Mrs. K. A. Young announced yesterday. The meeting was scheduled to be held Monday morning but on account of conflicting events, it was postponed until Tuesday. It is hoped that all members of the Day Nursery board will be in attendance.

MRS. J. R. RISER ENTERTAINED a few young people with a delightful rock party Friday evening at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Graham Robertson, 2101 Tenth street, in honor of her sister, Miss Theo-Dora Smith of Ridge, La. Miss Smith and Mr. Fisher entertained with musical selections during the evening. Delicious refreshments of punch and cake were served.

going to be the leading ones for fall. And as for plotting—its yogue has apparently just begun.

Huge bustle bows will be featured both on the sides and in the back, on the new frocks, but the back is the more favored location.

Circular flounces edge the long, tight sleeves, or begin at the waistline and work their sinuous trail round and round the skirt in spiral effect.

More popular than the pleated skirt is the one with a pleated apron in back or front, or on both sides. Elbow sleeves, seldom seen, usually have a wide pleated tuffie which reaches to the wrist.

Of materials, velvet promises to be the most popular, and it comes in printed and brocaded patterns as well as plain, in all the known colors.

Double-faced satin crepes, of heavy quality, are also expected to be much sought after. Duvelin and the very soft finished wools come in exceptionally lovely colors this fall.

Costs keep to a very slender outline, but are by no means plain. Circular flounces, wrap-around effects and shawl draperies all mark the new models and manage to look quite different from the one you bought last winter.

Suits have returned to favor and we have the plain tailored model and the fancy one to choose from depending upon your figure and your taste. Some of the fanciest ones are of velvet and show a decided waistline, with a flaring peplum.

A word in regard to figures: Corset manufacturers say corsets are coming back, but the flappers declare they will never wear them. So there you are!

Tragedy Entered Career of Hun Crown Prince Rudolph

Met, Loved at First Sight; Refused to Give Up Nobleman's Daughter at Order of Emperor, So Say Stories of State

By JOHN O'BRIEN
PARIS, July 14.—When Archduke Rudolph, crown prince of Austria-Hungary, met Marie Vetsera, daughter of an obscure Hungarian nobleman, at a ball in the imperial palace in Vienna in the late evening, those who noticed the flame which blazed suddenly in the eyes of both of them smiled.

It was merely another of the hundred love affairs which were part and parcel of that aristocratic but intrigue-haunted court.

Had they been able to peer into the future they would not have smiled. This meeting changed the destinies of an empire. Had it not happened, Rudolph might now be sitting on the throne of his ancestors. There would have been no assassination at Sarajevo, for Franz Ferdinand would never have been heir to the throne and there would have been no world war, not at least, in the way in which it came.

Archduke Rudolph was about 30, married to the Princess Stephanie, daughter of the king of Belgium, handsome and accomplished, the idol of the old Emperor Francis Joseph and the Empress Elisabeth, as well as the people of Vienna. His infatuation for the beautiful girl, who loved him and became his mistress, was known to practically everybody in the capital. His parents and his wife hoped that it was only a passing fancy. But instead their passion grew day by day, absorbed their lives and wrote their death sentence.

Had Many Lovers.
There were many aspirants to the heart of Marie Vetsera. Many even sought her hand in marriage. Rudolph's father tried to buy her off, tried to induce her to wed, appealed to his son and heir to abandon her. All was useless. He vowed never to give her up.

Then, one morning, January 30, 1889, the people of Vienna learned, with dismay akin to stupor, that Archduke Rudolph and Marie Vetsera had been found dead, apparently murdered, in the hunting lodge at Mayerling during the night. What had happened?

Here is where the different versions which have been given of the tragedy begin to be contradictory.

There has never been an dispute about the main fact—the scene of the final act in the drama. But who was responsible? Count Nigra, who was Italian ambassador at Vienna at the time, and Count Tietoni, his secretary, were the first persons apart from the servants in the hunting lodge to see the bodies. Both these diplomats have declared that Archduke Rudolph had a gaping wound in the side of his head several inches in extent, which could not have been the result of a revolver bullet and which, in their opinion, was the result of a violent blow by a bulldog or perhaps a bottle. With this testimony as a basis and utilizing what she knew of the Vienna court, Countess Larisch, who acted as go-between for the lovers in the early days of the liaison to the world of version of the tragedy, which is substantially as follows:

Story of the Tragedy.
Archduke Rudolph went to Mayerling with Count Hoyos, brother of the Austrian ambassador to France, for a hunting party. Several officers joined them. Marie Vetsera appeared at the lodge in the evening without having informed anybody in Vienna of her trip. She was taken out to the country in a hack driven by Hatzfeld, well known in Bohemian circles in the capital for his skill as a "Trolean" jockey and singer of Viennese songs.

However, her departure was not unobserved, and the word was brought to a certain Count Waldstein, one of the disgruntled suitors for Marie Vetsera's hand. Waldstein informed Count Baltazzi, the girl's legal guardian, who, up to that time knew nothing of her liaison with the emperor's heir.

Count Baltazzi and Waldstein went post haste to Mayerling and succeeded in obtaining entrance to the lodge by telling one of the servants they had an important message from the emperor. They found the lover sleeping. Waldstein, in a jealous fury, fired at the girl, killing her instantly.

Rudolph, awakened by the shot, seized his revolver and killed Waldstein. Then he fired at Baltazzi, but the latter dodged, grasped a champagne bottle and smashed the Archduke's skull. The bodies of Baltazzi and Marie Vetsera were interred in a convent nearby. That of the Archduke was taken back to Vienna.

That is the story as told by Countess Larisch. In the next installment will be given what seems to be the first authentic account of the scene based on first-hand evidence.

RIVAL SUITORS
EAT FIJI GIRL
Tale of Cannibalism Comes From Suva
FONOTIUTI, July 11.—Her two suitors were valiant warriors and handsome men. She could not choose between them. So they killed and roasted her, and shared the feast. And it happened in the year A. D. 1923.

Sombre dramas of the Fijians rumble down from the savage centuries in this tale of modern cannibalism that is brought from Suva by D. A. Carl, of Pasadena, Cal., world traveler and student of native life.

The two men are now in jail in Suva, awaiting trial—and the severed head of the girl is "exhibit A" in the case.

"This is the story as it was told to me," said Carl as he landed from the steamer Niagara, direct from the Fijis. "The tale is told from the streets of Suva by those who are intimately acquainted with the case, and it is said to be the story told by the accused men, themselves."

"The girl had been keeping company with two young Fiji men. Getting together, they discussed her good and bad qualities. As a sweetheart, she wasn't much. Too expensive. One had spent 20 shillings on her, the other 40—and she was hardly worth it."

Moreover, the two men were friends. It was inconceivable that either should deprive the other. So they hit upon a plan. "We will divide her flesh," they agreed. So they lured her from her home, bound her to a tree, cut off her head and roasted her."

"Unfortunately, one of the two afterward talked in his sleep. He was overheard and both were arrested. Later the head of their victim was found hanging in a tree and is now being preserved by authorities as evidence."

City Mother Takes Rap At Forced Marriages
PASADENA, Cal., July 14.—Forcing marriage upon one's own people has been outlawed. The laws of contention is not the way to approach this social problem, it was declared by Mrs. Beatrice C. George, city mother of Pasadena, before the monthly session of the local council of Social agencies.

Such forced marriages are largely responsible for clogging up the divorce courts, since only a trifling of their result happily. Mrs. George is reported to have said.

The young couples united this way do not love each other; there is no mutual respect and practically no chance of happiness.

Instead, Mrs. George's remedy would be to require the fathers of illegitimate children to care for the mother, financially, during the period of her confinement and also require the father to support the child until it reaches maturity.

PATERNAL LOVE PROVES ASSAILANT'S UNDOING
PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—William Steen was lured into the clutches of the police by his love for his son. Steen was charged with shooting Cecilia Fillmore while she was sitting on his front porch playing with his baby. The girl said it was because she would not go to school with him. After accusing Steen, she telephoned home to ask for the girl's condition. Police told him he had shot his baby and he returned panic stricken, to find it had been only a ruse. Steen's wife is in a hospital.

HEAD LETTUCE BETTER OUT AFTER NIGHTFALL

ORILLIA, Wash., July 14.—Head lettuce growers have discovered that by cutting off the vegetable after nightfall the heads retain more moisture and attain keeping qualities to stand shipment long distances. It is believed the lettuce in order to withstand the change of temperature as night comes on, hurriedly draws into its leaf folds an enormous amount of moisture, which at dawn is dispelled back through the root system, experiments show the great difference in the freshness of the heads when held over one or two days. Crews of workmen now cut and pack the lettuce in early evening.

Mother Quits Babe; Wins Court Custody

SANTA BARBARA, July 14.—A babe's intuition for its mother gained the latter custody of her 11-month-old infant in Judge S. E. Crow's court today. The case was that of George F. Elmore, Canadian World War veteran, contesting the action of his English war bride for possession of their child.

He brought the infant into court. The baby was crying hysterically. The father tried in vain to quiet him. His brother tried, several women friends tried, then a member of the woman's auxiliary of the American Legion passed the infant to the mother, and in a trice the crying ceased. These maneuvers had been noted by the court, who ordered the hearing stopped then and there and made an order giving the babe to its mother, who by that time was weeping with joy as she felt the little form cuddling in her arms.

Her Son Was Right

Takes Merritone on Son's Insistence, Gains 10 Pounds—Regains Old Strength

"My Nervousness is All Gone and Now I Sleep Every Night Like a Child—This is What Merritone Has Done for Me."

Mrs. Addie Steel, residing at 319 Texas avenue, Dallas, who says: "I am just so grateful for the way MERRITONE has built me up that I feel like telling everybody about it. Why, I have already gained ten pounds in weight and have just finished my third bottle. For the past year or so I have been suffering from a general run-down condition.

"My appetite was very poor and what I did manage to eat seemed to do me very little good. I was not sick enough to stay in bed, but was very weak and tired and felt unable to do but very little work. I was extremely nervous, couldn't sleep well at all, and would get up in the morning feeling as tired and bed as if I had not retired at night. My energy all left me and some days it was all I could do to get around at all. I had lost a great deal in weight and just seemed to be right on the verge of a complete breakdown.

"My son thinks there is no medicine in the world equal to MERRITONE. Nothing would do him but that I must try it, and now I feel just as he does, for I have not felt so strong and well in a good long time. My appetite is just fine and the fact that I increased so much in weight shows how well my food agrees with me. My nervousness is all gone and now I sleep every night like a child. That tired worn-out feeling has left me and I can now do all my work. There's nothing too good for me to say for MERRITONE."

MERRITONE is a mild laxative, builds up the stomach, regulates the liver, strengthens and purifies the blood, creates a healthy appetite, building up the health and strength.

MERRITONE is sold by all druggists, with the understanding that it must help you, or your money back.—adv.

But with all its wonders, radio is simply a new application of our old friend and servant, ELECTRICITY. Few people realize how intimately this vital force has become associated with our daily lives. It has long warmed us or cooled us, cooked for us and sewed for us, and now it brings us information and diversion by wireless. For economy and convenience you should charge your radio battery from a light socket at home. The battery charger will pay for itself in a few chargings, and it will last indefinitely. DIVORCES MATE WITH LOVE NEST

Suit Reveals Dual Life Led For Five Years

NEW YORK, July 14.—Signing by Justice Callaghan of the supreme court of a final decree of divorce for Mrs. Gladys Miller from George Miller revealed an unusual story of a husband's double life and his maintenance of a "love nest" for five years within a mile of the home he had made for his wife and two children.

The divorce is said to be the first of its sort ever granted in New York state, in view of the fact that the statutory offense complained of did not take place within the jurisdiction of the court.

Mrs. Miller, whose wedding followed a girlhood romance that had its inception 14 years ago at the seashore, is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Harrington, formerly of New York City residents and later prominent in Long Island society. Her father was formerly a member of Harrington & Sons, piano manufacturers, which firm continues to bear his name. Mrs. Miller is 32. Her children are Ruth, 11, and Hazel, 8.

An amazing feature was the fact that Mrs. Miller became friendly with her husband's mistress, not knowing that she was her rival for the husband's love. Once possessed of a beautiful home and all luxuries she might desire, Mrs. Miller was gradually reduced to these circumstances that she had to depend upon the charity of relatives for the support of herself and children.

Even when she learned of her husband's duplicity, she was willing to forgive him and bring about a reconciliation for the sake of their children, but her good intentions, although at first accepted, were later spurned.

MURDER COURT IN FRIGID NORTH

Judge to Unravel Deaths of Eight in Feud

TORONTO, July 14.—To unravel a tangled skein of hatred and revenge, cruelty and devotion to duty, in the barren lands of the Canadian Arctic, Judge Lucien Dubuc of the assize court of Alberta has left civilization on a long trek which will culminate when he holds court some time before the end of the summer in the outpost of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Herschel Island, in the depths of the Arctic.

Eight lives—those of a corporal of the mounted police, a white trader, four Eskimo men, one native woman and a small girl—were the toll of the tragedy which the long arm of Canadian justice is now about to probe.

Details of the grim drama are few as yet. The feud is believed to have sprung up when a white trader stole the wife of a native. Corporal Stephen Doak of the mounted police met his death when he went to restore order. Atiakomik, a native, is the arrest in connection with the killings, and a further roundup is looked for.

The coming trial at Herschel Island is the first of its kind in which Eskimos have been concerned. Judge, counsel for the prosecution and the defense, police escort, court officials and others, are in the party which has set out for Edmonton, Alberta.

LONDON EXHIBITS A JAZZ-MAD MONKEY

LONDON, July 14.—Joy, a young chimpanzee, which has just been installed in the Lemur House at the zoo, is jazz mad. He had been in his cage barely 15 minutes when he began to one-step and fox-trot round the floor, beating time rhythmically, first with one foot and then another. His actions were at first in amusement, for chimpanzees are not usually afflicted with the terpsichorean mania. Then he began to whistle a rag time, which Joy appeared fully to understand, syncopation included. Even when perched on his pole, Joy cannot keep still for long. The gentle suggestion of music will start him beating time.

GOLD WATCHMAN IS GUARD FOR 25 YEARS

SEATTLE, Wash., July 14.—Phil Nelson, who as night watchman has stood guard over the gold-filled vaults of banks in Fairbanks, Alaska, for 25 years, has arrived here on his first vacation. With the establishment of banks and bankers in interior Alaska he has watched vaults with not a dollar loss.

Scouting With The BOY SCOUTS

TROOP 4

Who said that the summer months were dull months in Scouting? A week's visit with Troop 4 will keep you busy keeping up with the activities of a live troop. Our new program for the summer is to keep us meeting out doors and we are doing it. Not only that, but we are passing swimming tests. Pats Moore passed his test last week. Then Aristotle Landry passed his while on the overnight hike. And now Adam Rodriguez is almost ready to pass his swimming. Even Raymond Quibedean can swim now. Come on Scouts, let's all be first class Scouts.

Our overnight hike was a grand success.

We left the city about 5 o'clock Saturday with pack, baggage and gear. Our packs consisted of personal belongings. The baggage was our tents, fire irons, pots and pans, all outfit for camping. And we had a fine outfit for camping. Our pots are all aluminum. There is no shortage of knives, forks or spoons to cook with.

About an hour later we reached the camping place at Twin Lakes. There we found a large number of different varieties of trees. In fact, we have decided to make a special trip down there just to study the trees for a merit badge in forestry.

It did not take us long to pitch camp as we all had our duties laid out. This method of camping by the patrol is just the thing; that is, each Scout has certain duties to perform when in camp. Our kitchen was set up in a clearing and our tents pitched in little of no time.

After a hearty meal we sat around telling camp tales until 9 o'clock. By then the "night noises" were plentiful. Say, fellows, who heard the bears or the alligators? And say, who imagined he found a snake in his bed? That was one night that will be remembered. Most of the Scouts intended to sleep in the open but when morning came the tents were occupied.

The next day was spent in swimming, cooking, eating and having a general good time. In fact the hour for breaking camp came too soon. We left camp about 3 o'clock after eating ice cold watermelon. That was the treat from our assistant scoutmaster, Frank Langridge. All voted to go on our next overnight hike to be held in August.

Tuesday night Troop 15 invited us to join them in a swim at Franklin school pool. There we found Troop 17 also. All told, there were around 60 Scouts, four scoutmasters and three committeemen present. We certainly had a dandy time and ready to go again when Troop 15 asks us.

We had the good luck of being able to get the pool again. Troop 15 and 17, were with us again. We had many races in which each troop shared victories. After everybody was out of the pool ice cold watermelons were served to us.

Thanks, Mr. Sparks, they were just fine. Our new assistant scoutmaster, Mr. Langridge, is busy getting merit badges. That's the way you are showing that you have got old Troop 4's spirit. Many other Scouts are also keeping on the old work, Willie Hol-finger passed the board of examiners for second class and Aristotle Landry passed it for first class. We do not know what we will have next week but we know it is something worth while your time.

LEONARD STANSBURY, Scribe.

TROOP 15

We did not have a meeting Tuesday night but had a combined swim with Troops 6 and 17. Scoutmaster Scully of Troop 6 told us we will have another combined and evidently we were in favor of the combined feast.

Thursday night at 7:30 we went in swimming. 85 boys strong. During the swim we were introduced to Mr. Sparks of the Rotary club who was kind enough to get us the watermelon feast.

We then had a little swimming program. Four boys from each troop entered two boys on each side of the pool. We had to swim up and touch the other boy's hand. He would swim back and touch this boy's and then would go back up. Troop 17 won.

The second number of the program was to swim the pool twice. Troop 6 won.

The boys who entered were Troop 6 Burns Watts, Troop 15 Clarence DeCoux, Troop 17 Eddie Bellot. The program ended with a swim under water. Troop 15 won. The boys who entered were Troop 15 Fred Falcourt, Troop 6 James Billeaud and Troop 17 James Bollinger.

We then came out and had the cold watermelons. Sure were good, Mr. Sparks.

At 9:30 we left for home after an eventful night.

We have a ball game on Lake Shore diamond at 10 o'clock with Troop 6. We will have an important meeting Tuesday night, so everybody be present.

RANDOLPH PAPICHL, Scribe.

TROOP 16

Troop 16 did not have their regular meeting Friday but had a swim in the Franklin pool instead. Before Mr. Johnson told us to jump in we had roll call and there were nine scouts, one officer and one visitor. Although there were only 11 there, we had a good time. We had a race and Wesley Prichard won first and Bob Canada won second.

We also had a relay in which Wesley Prichard and Norman Rodenberg beat Mark Panton and Bob Canada. In trying to see who could swim the longest under water Palmer Hartford won. In spite of Jim Friday the 13th we all had no bad luck.

Everybody came to the meeting next Friday and bring their dinner. JAMES ANTOINE, Scribe.

Tuesday, July 10, we had a meeting of the patrol leaders, the senior patrol leader, the scribe, scoutmaster, and assistant scoutmaster. The meeting was held for the purpose of mapping out plans for the next meeting. We made different suggestions and by the time that we were through we had a regular program set for the next meeting. Scoutmaster Kent said that we would have less indoor meetings this summer. Instead we will have bathing parties and outdoor meetings so that we can keep cool and healthy. Mr. Kent made the suggestion that we go for a beach party next week. We all agreed on having this party but the exact date is not yet set. It nothing bars us from it, however, we will have it on Saturday the 21st.

The meeting broke up at 7 o'clock at which time we were ready to go swimming. We got to the Franklin pool at about 7:40 and we were in swimming about 7:50. Troops 6 and 15 were also there, the more the merrier. Leon LeBlanc and Dominique Matise, two new members of our troop, were about 15 minutes late but I am sure that they had enough fun for that night. We got out about 8 o'clock. I am sure that every one who attended the swimming party will be well refreshed after perspiring all day long, because Tuesday was certainly a hot day.

Instead of a meeting Wednesday we had another swim in the Franklin pool Thursday. We got to the pool about 7:20 and we were in swimming about five minutes later. While in swimming some played tag, while others walked the rings and slid off the diving board. After we had been in swimming about 25 minutes Scoutmaster Scully blew his whistle for us to get out. We were divided into our three separate troops, 6, 15 and 17. The first thing on the program was a relay race between the three troops. The troops ranked in the long distance race as follows: Troop 15 first; Troop 17 second, and Troop 6 came out last. We also had a slow race that Scoutmaster Scully had to blow his whistle in the middle of it to keep the rest of us from freezing. I am sure that the first half of the race took only 20 minutes. We all got out and went outside for the thing that we had come here especially for, that was watermelon. We certainly do thank Rotarian Sparks for the treat. They were certainly fine melons, they were as cold as you could hardly touch them. The melons were cut and a large slice was given to each boy. We left the school grounds about 9 o'clock with all our stomachs could hold.

JAMES BOLLINGER, Scribe.

Only nine deaths occurred out of a total of 754 street accidents in the city of London in 1921.

FEARED NEMESIS VIA GOLD TEETH

So 'Shiner' Moves Grave of Murdered Deputy

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 14.—Because he was the victim of terror that a diving rod would be attracted by the gold teeth of a man he had murdered, Monroe Hill, a farmer of Walker county, near this city, will serve a life sentence in prison as a result of a recent decision by the Alabama supreme court, which affirmed the judgment of the lower court. But for his fear the man would have escaped punishment, as several years had elapsed since the killing, and there was no evidence as to the guilty party.

Earl W. Tritt, deputy sheriff of Walker county, disappeared in 1919. For many months there was no trace of him. Searchers finally located his body in a shallow grave not far from the place where he was last seen. Suspicion turned to Monroe Hill and his sons, Edward, Hard and Clyde. They were arrested and Clyde confessed and told one of the strangest stories ever submitted to the supreme court in a record from a trial court.

Clyde Hill testified that his father and his sons, Edward and Hard, and other defendants, suspected that Tritt had "double-crossed" them after agreeing to protect them in the manufacture of moonshine liquor and furnished information that resulted in the destruction of their still. He said that arrangements were made to dispose of Tritt so he could not give further information. A grave was dug, Tritt was lured to a point not far from the grave, killed and his body thrown into the grave. For many weeks no trace of him could be found.

Then prospectors for gold came into the community, bringing with them a diving rod with which they hoped to find the gold which they believed existed in quantities in the hills of Walker county. Monroe Hill, according to the story, heard of the gold prospectors and their searches and recalled that Tritt had several gold teeth. Fearing that the diving rod would point to the teeth and be the instrument of the discovery of the crime, Hill dug up the body, extracted the teeth, dug another grave some distance away and reburied the body.

Passers-by discovered the second grave. Hill and his sons were arrested. On the contention that fair trials could not be secured in Walker county, the cases were transferred to Tuscaloosa county. One jury could not reach a verdict in Monroe Hill's case, but the second imposed a life sentence. This was affirmed by the supreme court.

THREE MULES KILLED BY LIGHTNING BOLT

TYLER, Texas, July 14.—Four mules were walking along a wooded path near Pleasant Retreat, eight miles west of Tyler, when a lightning bolt struck a nearby tree and killed three of the animals, all of which belonged to Tom Kennedy, a negro farmer. The fourth mule was knocked down but recovered from the shock.

Eldest Child in Family of 16 Is 22, And All But One Live Under 1 Roof

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 14.—Which is the largest family in Syracuse?

Is there one larger than that of James A. Murphy, 619 Oxford street, secretary, Murphy Brothers, Park bakery, four years of whose fifteen children are living and well, and all but one, a married daughter, under the paternal roof?

Mary, the married daughter, is 22 years old and Baby Rita is less than 1. Mrs. Murphy is only a little past 40. There is only one pair of twins and none of the children has ever had a serious illness. Kathleen died when she was five months old.

The girls are Mary, Betty, Anne, Ellen, Rosanne, Margaret, and Rita; the boys, Eugene, Timothy, Patrick, Michael, Thomas, John and Joseph. Most of the children are in school, some of them preparing for college. Betty is a clerk in the Edwards store and Michael is in the pharmacy, preparatory to the study of pharmacy.

The mother, with the aid of one maid, does all the work for the family.

Municipal Lights Sought at Denison

DENISON, Texas, July 14.—At a recent meeting of the Retail Merchants' association a resolution was adopted favoring the acquisition or erection of a municipally owned electric light plant, and a committee will be appointed to confer with the city commission. It was pointed out that Greenville has successfully operated a city-owned plant, and has recently reduced the rate to consumers. It is understood the association will favor the issuance of bonds to finance the project.

LOGGER KILLS A BEAR WITH POCKET KNIFE

TACOMA, Wash., July 14.—A report from Walla Walla relates the terrible hand-to-hand conflict between Walter Briggs, a lumber mill employee, and an enraged black she bear, which was finally killed with a pocketknife. Briggs and two loggers were attacked by the bear, according to the story, and Briggs successfully used his pocketknife, playing the animal. Meantime the bear partially scalped Briggs, lacerated his face, shredded his clothing and severely bit his left arm. Briggs is in the logging camp hospital.

REVOLUTION IN CAMPAIGN SEEN

Voice Amplifier and Radio Aiding President

ON TOUR WITH PRESIDENT HARDING, July 14.—The terrors of public speaking have been banished, and a revolution has been wrought in the gentle art of campaigning. It has all come about through the radio and the voice amplifier.

When President Harding started out June 20 with his formal speeches scheduled, and nobody knew how many informal hear-platform ones, it looked like a trip that would try his physical stamina to the utmost, simply on account of the labor involved in public speaking.

The President probably was an agreeably surprised as anyone by the reality, after such a prospect. Not only has his voice failed to show the slightest sign of wear and tear after more than twenty-five speeches, but physically he is fresher today than when he left Washington.

And at the same time, he has been heard by more people than any president ever before reached with his voice in a similar time.

The Voice Amplifier

Two devices are responsible for the new effectiveness and comfort of the President's public speaking. One is the voice amplifier, which is attached to the rear platform of his special train, and which also is erected in every hall and meeting place, indoors and outdoors, where Mr. Harding makes a formal address. Persons blocks from the meeting halls have reported that they heard perfectly every word the president said inside a hall.

The Hutchinson, Kansas, speech on agriculture, would have been impossible, Mr. Harding felt, unless he had the assistance of the amplifier in carrying his voice to the great crowd that filled the fair grounds grandstand and overflowed to the infield of the racetrack.

It developed there was no voice magnifier available for the Tacoma, Wash., speech on July 3. Mr. Harding said he could not take the risk of straining his throat by trying to reach a big platform outdoors. This situation came to light the day the party was in Hutchinson, Kansas.

That night the wires were kept hot, and as a result, within 24 hours the voice magnifier used in Hutchinson, Kansas, was on its way, aboard a fast passenger train to Tacoma, where it will be erected and thoroughly tested for the Harding speech.

The President expressed his delight over the ease with which he can reach his audience.

Big Radio Audience

The other agency which has given him a bigger audience than any president before him is radio. Mr. Harding's speeches in the principal centers are broadcast, and by special arrangements are transmitted hundreds and in some cases more than a thousand miles, over a telephone wire, and thence transferred to a broadcasting set. He has received hundreds of telegrams from people who sit in their homes and listen in as he addresses vast audiences hundreds of miles away.

The possibilities of this in-campaigning have interested the president and other members of his party who see in the new development an entire revolutionizing of old-time campaigning methods. Instead of a long and weary campaign swing, a candidate for president, within a few years at least, will merely visit a few big centers in the United States, wherever they want to listen or not, for they can be sent great distances and put on the voice magnifier, so that outdoors or indoors, big audiences can hear them. It will not be surprising to read an announcement like this in some future presidential campaign:

"John Smith, candidate for President, will speak tonight in Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis, Denver, Milwaukee and a number of smaller cities. Time in at 8 p. m. and hear his speech."

Dishwashing is lots of fun for 12-year-old Gladys Rahn of Belvidere, Ill., a Chicago suburb. She's Cook county's champion. In a recent contest she bested 27 opponents in two minutes flat. Her mother says Gladys has been at it since she was 8.

BROTHER SLAYS SUITOR OF GIRL

Follows Alleged Objections By Her Family

AUGUSTA, Ga., July 14.—The town "bad man" is dead, a mother's heart is broken, a young girl's head is bowed and her brother is accused.

Paris Hamilton was fatally shot when at the home of Joseph Neave, in this county. Alva Neave fired the shot. Hamilton had just been talking to Neave's sister, Miss Icie Belle Neave, who had been requested by members of her family to cease receiving attentions from Hamilton.

Young Neave's version of the affair, as related to County Judge Doolson and County Attorney Jacobs, in Augusta, is given as follows:

Hamilton appeared at the Neave home twice in one afternoon being accompanied on his first visit by a young man named Jett. When Hamilton appeared again he was alone. Neave says Hamilton was in his automobile, in front of the Neave house, talking to the girl and that he, Alva Neave, told his sister to go into the house, which she did.

Neave says this seemed to anger Hamilton, who then left his car and started toward the Neave home, saying, "Send him on out here and I will get him." As Hamilton drew near the house, Neave says, he fired with a shotgun through the window screen, shattering it, and took effect in Hamilton's body.

Neave will plead self-defense, basing his claim for freedom on the story given. He is about 24 years old and has never been in trouble before. Hamilton was about 25 years old and was known as the bully of a large section of Bracken county. He was the son of Mrs. Aught Hamilton. On June 14, 1915, Hamilton shot and killed Nim Showalter, town marshal of Brookville, using a shotgun. Hamilton was sentenced to the penitentiary but was released after serving about 18 months. About two years ago he was in a party which engaged in a fight, a man named Flanagan being killed.

Indian Bride's Love Turns to Jealousy, Misery in Mansion

Exie Fife Jackson of $1000 a Day Fame, Born in Backwoods, Now Seeks a Divorce

MUSKOGEE, Okla., July 14.—If this story were being told by a Nick Carter or Arthur Hopkins it would be entitled "The Taint of Gold" and would be ornamented with a triple-plated moral.

But Muskogee is the Indian center of the United States and so it will simply be added as a paragraph on the history of "The Civilization of the Indian."

It's a story of a love founded upon a rock of wealth, a happiness that was drowned in a wealth of oil. It's the true tale of how contentment in a cottage was reduced to jealousy and misery in a mansion.

Exie Fife Jackson, believed to be the chief contender with Jackson Burdett for the title of the richest Indian in the world, has filed suit for divorce from Berlin Jackson, who was a boyhood sweetheart of the little Creek girl and who married her in the spring shortly after oil had been discovered on her allotment.

Exie charges that Berlin "refuses to do any kind of work and has failed and refused at all times to provide and support her, but on the other hand, the plaintiff has not only supported herself, but has supported the defendant and bought his clothes and necessities with her own funds."

And Exie has close to half a million dollars in cash to her credit at the disbursing office here of the superintendent of the Five Civilized Tribes.

The divorce petition filed in McIntosh county district court contains: "Plaintiff also accuses defendant of extreme cruelty and of false accusing plaintiff of unfaithfulness."

Berlin answers that Exie always treated him right and that they never had a falling out until they moved from their little farm home near Fame, McIntosh county, to Eu fault. Since then, the young husband says, she has put in most of her time driving her motor car with other men accompanying her, while he is left at home in a big shiny new house with nothing except a phonograph to amuse him.

Berlin says he will demand a division of Exie's property if she is granted a divorce. She is worth over a million dollars, having 640 acres of oil lands near Slick, in Creek county, which is paying an average of $1,000 a day royalty.

Exie first sprang into fame when oil was discovered on her allotment, three of which are inherited. Her wealth began piling up into the Indian agency, and newspaper men began to scurry down to her country home to see what she was going to do with her wealth.

One newspaper man found her sitting before a table covered with letters, containing proposals from men in all walks of life, from pugilist to English noble, and requests for aid in all sorts of causes from the relief of indigent and indolent tabby cats to financing an expedition to uncover the glories of the ancient Aztecs of Mexico.

Exie wore no shoes or hose and her hair was crudely bobbed. Her skin was browned by exposure. She was without worldly guile and knew not of the lipstick.

In front of the house, a three-room box affair, exposed to the weather stood a $2,500 automobile. From the rafters of a small front porch hung several hams, strung out of the reach of ants.

Exie permitted the newspaper man to read several of her letters. "Do you think you will marry any of them?" she was asked.

"No, I'm going to marry Berlin," she answered, and indicated the computer, barefooted and bashful, sitting on the running board of the new car.

Eight months have passed. Exie and Berlin have been married half a year. The thrills they use to seek fishing on a creek bank are now pursued in a racing auto; the habitations of the backwoods have given way to the garb of the ready-to-wear store; Exie's checkbook is now the "open sesame" to world's joys and packs of lawyers now disturb the youngsters' privacy which was once insured by extreme poverty.

Democracy on Wane; Royalty Will Revive

PARIS, July 14.—Democracy is on the wane and the cycle of royalty is about to begin again. Such is the prophecy of Gauda Sahib, a curious old Indian of no particular caste, who echoes religion, is reputedly wealthy and who is visiting Paris for the first time at the house of Thomas Atchison, an American resident.

Gauda Sahib, like every other prophet worth his salt, foretold the World War, he says. He prophesied also the Kina eruption, the Chinese rebellion and the fall of the czar. Now he has been studying Europe, and the result of his investigation is, short of his picturesque language, thusly:

1. Kings are coming back. First, a czar will return to Russia. Then an emperor — one of the House of Orleans — will be replaced on the throne of France, which will again become a powerful empire. There will be a number of kings in Germany, the night of France having that same right with the Treaty of empire into numerous small states.

2. At the end of the century there will only be one great democracy existing — the United States of All America, comprising both hemispheres. This democracy is to stretch over Europe and wipe out all the kings and make the world one. Gauda Sahib gets these revelations in dreams, he says. He is nearly a hundred years old, asserts Mr. Atchison, who knew him as his guest in Delhi. And, so far, he has never been wrong.

Think Your Auto Full of Vibration? Just Try Riding Once Again in Horse Drawn Vehicle

MOST OF SHOCKS ARE ELIMINATED

Tire Contact Silence Makes Squeaks Outstanding

Automobilists are often found complaining about the vibration of their cars. Contrasted, however, with the vibrations of horse-drawn vehicles which were the popular means of transportation a couple of generations ago, the motor car is a perfect stranger to vibration. An old-fashioned buggy on an old-fashioned highway was calculated to produce more vibrations than any other medium known to mankind.

The first automobile had considerable capacity for vibrating, but great advances have been made in the last few years in design by manufacturers so that vibration due to rotating parts has been reduced to a minimum. The art of suspending the body of a car has advanced to a point where it rides much easier than it used to.

In spite of the vast improvement that has been made there is still likely to be some vibration of different parts of an auto, and this has a tendency to shake things loose. The result is that all parts of the automobile must not only be fastened securely but locked in place, and when accessories are added they must be locked so that they cannot be stolen even by the thief vibration.

Nuts and Cotten
Many different parts of a car are made fast through the use of bolts with threads on them and make parts tight. In the past long enough so that two nuts could be put on. One was jammed against another in order to lock in such a way that it was impossible for them to come off. Then, to make assurance doubly sure, a hole was drilled in the bolt and a split steel pin, called a cotten, was inserted. Thus, even though the nuts became loosened, the cotten pin would prevent them from getting off the bolt.

In other cases, instead of using two nuts, a single nut with notches in the head of it, called a castellated nut, is employed. When this nut is in place a hole is drilled through the bolt and a cotten pin is inserted in a pair of the notches in the nut so that it cannot back off and become loosened.

In place of lock nuts, lock washers are used extensively nowadays. The lock washer is made of hardened steel with two comparatively sharp projections caused by the splitting of the washer. When the nut is turned down on such a washer the sharp edges dig into the nut and the part is held into place and prevents the nut from loosening. These washers are sometimes called split washers.

Fastening of Wheels
In other places the head of the bolt is drilled and a wire is passed through it and made fast in such a way that the bolt cannot turn. It is, of course, taken for granted that the wheels of a car must be securely locked on. To have a wheel now and then leaving the machine when going along the road at 30 miles an hour would be tremendously annoying. Each front wheel is usually secured by a pair of nuts, one acting as a lock nut, and a cotten pin is added to prevent the wheel from coming off in case the nuts should by any chance loosen up.

Rear wheels, which are fastened rigidly to the axle shaft in all types except the full floating, sometimes employ a special lock washer is so constructed that when it is placed over the end of the shaft it cannot turn on the shaft. And it has ears on it which must be bent snugly against the flat face of the nut to prevent it from turning on the shaft.

In the full floating type of rear axle the wheels are held on by two nuts, the condition being the same as in the front wheels.

New Shock Absorber Patented by Houston Man for Manufacture

HOUSTON, Texas, July 14.—A shock absorber for Ford automobiles combining the qualities of known developments along this line with the ideas of a practical master mechanic who has had long experience in the automotive field will be placed before the motoring public at an early date, it is announced at the headquarters of the Auto-Eez Manufacturing company of this city.

The new invention, known as the "Four-Dees," a synonym of "Ford Ease," the name also furnishing the basis of a slogan, "Duce proof, Durable, Dignified and Dependable." The inventor is W. H. Whider, of this city, who has spent more than two years in perfecting his invention.

Patent rights have been acquired by the Auto-Eez Manufacturing company, with headquarters in this city, and a contract aggregating more than a half million dollars, guaranteeing the production of 50,000 sets, has been let. The absorbers are being manufactured at an eastern foundry and machinery works under the personal supervision of Louis L. Lom, superintendent of production, and nationally known inventor of shock absorbers for high-priced cars, bearing his name.

EUCALYPTUS OIL! AND 36 MILES TO A GALLON

Another fuel to save pennies for the motorist! This time it is eucalyptus oil, hereafter used mainly in medicinal preparations.

U. S. CHEAP CAR FAR AHEAD OF OLD WORLD'S

The American cheap car is still far ahead of its European competitors, even in their own home markets. Despite the high import duties, the American automobile has found much greater favor than cars of local manufacture.

They're cheaper, that's why. High taxation, coupled with high cost of production, has retarded keen competition with American products.

TIRE BLOWOUTS

A tire may be injured and not show any defect. But a serious blowout may occur unexpectedly after several hundred miles have been run following the injury.

SCANT DANGER IN OVER-INFLATION

Under-Inflation Is More Frequent and More Costly

Car owners sometimes hold the mistaken belief that they will get good service regardless of how they take care of their tires, and that this service is due either to exceptional tire quality or exceptional good luck.

While that may be an optimistic way of looking at the situation it should be remembered that the service secured from a tire that has been allowed to go without attention or care until its life has ended, is less than it would have been had reasonable care been exercised.

Recently a canvass was made among a number of motorists to whom a taxi company had awarded prizes for securing unusual tire service. All had received very good mileage, in fact, wonderful service on the tires that were under observation. Without exception they agreed that proper inflation was in large part responsible.

"The importance of proper inflation certainly entitles it to consideration as the best of the factors entering into the securing of the service that is built into tires," says Bert Hughes of the Bert Hughes Tire company. "Most people do not realize the damage that under-inflation will cause. The novice is sometimes afraid of inflating his tires too tightly, something that cannot be done with a hand pump and is seldom done with a power pump."

"Nothing will wear out a casing so quickly as running it with too low an air pressure. The fabric is bent and twisted; the rubber is disintegrated; and the tire wears out like an old leather hinge. The layers of fabric become separated—a good bump binds the casing so much that the inside layers break—the tube works itself into the cracks—and then comes one of those blowouts that makes the service man want to change places with the recording angel."

Roughly speaking a tire is properly inflated when it will stand up full and round under weight of the loaded car. A kick against the tire tread tells nothing. A gauge is the only way of knowing anything about the pressure. If exceptionally heavy loads are to be carried, the pressure should be increased correspondingly. During the first 10 days a tire is in use, it should be inflated daily. After this period unless the tire shows symptoms of valve trouble or other leak, an inflation inspection once a week will be sufficient.

One of the largest fortunes left by an "artist" was that of Peter Graham, who died in 1921 worth $650,000.

SNUB POLLARD SELLS A BUICK

Rather He Assists, Since It Sold Self, Says May

Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson of Douglas, Arizona, recently ran across a moving picture party taking comedy "shots" in California, whither Mr. and Mrs. Jackson had driven on vacation.

The netors quickly gathered around Mr. Jackson's beautiful new Buick Six 55 and among the most interested was Snub Pollard, whose face is familiar to screen fans everywhere.

Pollard and his leading lady listened to Mr. Jackson's enthusiastic exposition of Buick merits. It resulted in an order for a Buick from Miss Mosquini. Pollard has for some time been a Buick owner and so helped make the sale.

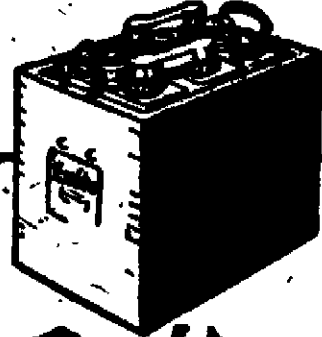

"Many other movie stars are Buick owners, just as are a large proportion of motorists in other lines of endeavor. Reasons for Buick supremacy are found in its features of beauty, comfort and convenience as well as its sterling performance," says Mart May of the Smith-May Motor company, Port Arthur dealers.

FORD PLANT TO GET EXTENSION

Green Island, N. Y., Works To Be at Full Capacity

DETROIT, Mich., July 14.—Requirements of the Ford Motor company for increased manufacture will bring a rapid expansion of the company's plant at Green Island, N. Y., it is just announced by the Ford News.

When the plant is ready to operate at its full capacity it will take its place as one of the dominant manufacturing institutions of the country, the announcement says, and in the volume of production will be second only to the Detroit plant. A feature will be the employment of farmer help during the winter months, permitting them to work on the farms during the summer.

At present production is limited to that of radiators and ring gears, employing 225 men, but this force will be increased as soon as new machinery is installed.

A new department will soon be opened for the manufacture of springs and will give employment to 400 additional men.

Extensive improvement and development of the waterways in the Green Island section is also contemplated by the Ford Motor company and will include an all-water route to Detroit. The property will be flanked by a massive concrete water front, and this dock system will be equipped with cranes and other paraphernalia to be employed in extensive water shipments.

Construction of all new Ford plants on sites with abundant water supply is significant of the part navigation and electrical power will play in the future expansion program of the company.

The Green Island hydro-electric plant, erected in 1921, after the government granted permission to the company to utilize the power from the dam at Troy now houses four uniquely designed low-headed turbines which are the largest of their type in the world. They operate as "double current" generators, producing both alternating and direct current.

The capacity of the power house is 8,000 horsepower.

The plant area at Green Island is 180 acres and the manufacturing building is 120 by 1100 feet. It is operated exclusively by "electricity," even to the heating.

3,000,000 Autos Is 'Crop' Forecast For Present Year

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Automobile production in 1923 should reach the 3,000,000 mark, provided supplies for the manufacture of closed bodies can be obtained, according to Alfred Reeves, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

"Many factors are responsible for the increased production," Reeves stated. "The entrance of farmers and inhabitants of small communities into the market on a large scale this year, and before the winter months, has increased the demand for passenger cars."

"The use of motor trucks and buses as feeders to street railways and railroads will make itself shown in the demand for vehicles of this type."

With the automotive industry consuming 10 per cent of all the iron produced in the country; 12 per cent of the copper; 17 per cent of the tin; 40 per cent of the plate glass; 85 per cent of the upholstery leather and 80 per cent each of gasoline and rubber, Reeves declared that its prosperity would make itself felt in all industries of the nation.

CHEAP CLOSED CARS

The predominant feature of the country's automobile shows this year will be the cheap closed car. These will be presented in both four and six-cylinder models.

recently found that the cheaper cars are costing an average of $4045 per mile, as against $5096 for Chevrolets. This concern is now operating more than thirty Chevrolet companies.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, long famed for careful buying, after exhaustive tests has recently purchased 18 Chevrolets for use in Baltimore, and while their policy prevents giving publicity to their operating costs it is said that considerable saving is reported over cars of a cheaper make.

Many sales managers contend that it is not the cost that is to be given the greatest consideration in buying cars for salesmen. These men claim that the morale of the salesmen is appreciably raised when he has a classy looking car—one in which he will take pride and keep in a spick and span condition.—Business Management, for January.

WATCH BRAKES, BAKER URGES

Safety Depends on Proper Adjustment

The vigorous manner in which police departments all over the country are checking up automobile brakes is good evidence of the important part that brakes play in the nation's safety.

In many large cities and in hundreds of smaller ones, motorists are being stopped on the streets and put through driving tests. If the test shows that the brakes do not grip evenly or quickly, the officer orders the driver to have them adjusted. If they function satisfactorily, the driver is given a windshield sticker certifying to the good condition of his brakes and thus saving him the annoyance of another halt and another inspection.

"These inspections are an excellent thing," said E. T. Baker, Dodge Brothers dealer, "and should be made regularly and universally. The average man hates to drive with poor brakes, but the average man is also very busy. However, the man who stops to consider what faulty brakes might result in, will realize that the few necessary minutes in the service station are well spent. Good brakes protect lives. And it is certainly the duty of every motorist to make driving as safe as possible."

The brakes in Dodge Brothers motor cars are considerably larger than the average, having 14-inch drums and 2 1/4 inch linings. Naturally, the extra surface thus provided develops more friction when the brake bands contract over the drums—and it is this friction that stops the car.

"Because of the design of the various connecting levels, the slightest pressure on the brake pedal has an immediate effect. Women have no difficulty in bringing their Dodge Brothers cars to a quick stop. There is practically no tendency to skid because the pressure is distributed evenly between the two rear wheels by a highly efficient equalizer. Thus both wheels are retarded simultaneously. The lining is protected against irregular wear by the fact that the brake bands grip evenly all around the drum. This also accounts for the fact that Dodge Brothers cars stop so quickly and quietly."

GIVE ATTENTION TO TIRE SERIAL NUMBER

The serial number appearing on the sidewalls of all automobile tires is a valuable asset to motorists. It enables owners to trace lost or stolen casings. If recorded, it is also very useful in determining mileage records and service, according to Miller tire men.

MARKED GEAR CONTROL

Manufacturers could help beginning motorists if they followed an idea introduced by a German auto producer into his products. That is, marking the position of each gear on the knob of the control lever. Any auto owner can paste a slip of paper on the knob. It has the least doubt as to his driving ability.

LIMITED TAXES WANTED

Automobiles ought to be taxed only so far as the revenue is spent for maintenance of improved highways and administration of state motor vehicle departments. This is advocated by the Motor Vehicle Conference committee, representing various automobile organizations of the country. The state should be the sole taxing agency, the committee recommends.

PARKING EXPENSIVE

It costs more than two cents each time you park your car, a New York auto man estimates. Backing in and out, driving past the parking point, around and back—all add up to this "enormous" cost.

MOTOR RUNNING 58 DAYS, NIGHTS

Hupmobile Averages Over 21 Miles Per Gallon

A standard stock Hupmobile touring car, which had already seen 6000 miles of service, set a new world's record in Utah recently when it finished a run of 58 consecutive days without stopping the engine. The hood was sealed throughout the run.

A total of 26,165 miles was made during the period. This is greater than the distance around the earth. The run was solely a reliability test. No attempt was made at great speeds. The idea was to duplicate as nearly as possible driving conditions encountered by the average motorist. Speeds in cities varied from 10 to 20 miles per hour. In the country, 25 to 30 miles per hour was maintained. Eighteen different men drove in eight-hour shifts. During the fifty-eighth day, the fan belt broke, causing the engine to become hot. It was necessary to break the seals on the hood and stop the engine a few minutes to install another belt. The hood was again sealed, the engine started and the run continued without a stop until a 60-day period was completed. The distance covered in the 60 days was 27,006 miles.

CLINKERED STREETS

One of the London streets that has lasted in good condition for over seven years is paved with clinkers from a garbage incinerator, crushed and mixed with Mexican asphalt. The combination is laid over another bed of clinkers or of old macadam road.

AUTO TAX FOR SCHOOLS

The plan of the governor of Pennsylvania to raise $18,000,000 for school purposes by adding another tax on automobiles, by the gasoline route, has brought a wave of protest from all parts of the state. A duty of two cents a gallon would be demanded, if the proposed legislation is passed.

PREVENTING TIRE THEFT

A German invention makes it possible for the auto owner to have his tires stamped with his own name and other distinguishing mark, so that it may be identified easily if stolen and recovered. The invention consists of a stamping in chrome which melts the marks into the rubber without injuring the tire.

Affidavit was made by Alvin A. Allen, Utah Oil Refining company, which supplied all oil and gasoline used, that 1,258.75 gallons and 62.5 quarts of oil were consumed during the entire run. Gasoline average for the entire 27,006 miles was therefore 21.5 miles per gallon and oil consumption one quart for each 325 miles. Technical examination found the motor in remarkably unvarnished condition.

WINNING CARS HAD WILLARDS

First 4 at Indianapolis Were So Equipped

Service can claim part of the credit for the victory of the American cars over the foreign entries in the recent great automobile racing classic at Indianapolis speedway, Decoration day, claims Gene Rayburn, of the Port Arthur Tire and Sporting Goods company, local Willard dealers.

"Willard service was on hand to see that the Willard storage batteries in the cars in which they were part of the racing equipment," Rayburn says. "Tommy Milton's H. C. S. special, the winner, was equipped with batteries supplied by a Willard battery store in the cars of Harry Hartz, Jimmy Murphy and Eddie Hearne, who took second, third and fourth places, respectively."

Frank Elliott and Cliff Durant who placed sixth and seventh, had Willard batteries on their cars. Wade Murphy, the winner, This year out of the ten cars that finished within the money seven carried Willard batteries.

Many Firms Order Fleets for Gruelling Road Work

The Delco-Light salesman traveling country districts in behalf of their firm lighting systems can reasonably be expected to demand the utmost in endurance from their cars. So that actual demonstrations of Delco plants may be given anywhere all their Chevrolet coupes are equipped with a demonstrating plant.

Thompson and Wood, the Delco-Light distributors in Louisville, report that during the first 5,000 miles which their Chevrolets were used an average of 22 miles per gallon of gasoline was made. The Champion Spark Plug Company are placing a Chevrolet coupe in the hands of a specially trained advertising man in each state, who will visit their dealers to install displays and merchandising helps. Their cars are equipped with a specially designed box to carry a supply of advertising and display material.

Car Value Levels

Automobile values find their true levels in the used car market.

No matter what the price placed on the new car by the manufacturer the public knows that some automobiles have a much greater depreciation than some other cars, in the first, second and third years of their use. Cars with an excess depreciation have a low average of repeat business. Heavy allowances on old cars has been one way of encouraging buyers. Sometimes this has been possible through what is known as a "trading allowance."

If you get more for your old car than you know it is worth, aren't you just kidding yourself—when you deal for that new car, with the list price fictitiously high for the sole purpose of making to you an attractive price on your old car? And for another year you drive an automobile you really do not want, merely because of the trade-in-allowance on your old car.

Worthy products are fairly priced and properly sold. They are handled by

BLUE LAW PROS IN STALEMATE

Austin Ruckus Termed a Village Squabble

AUSTIN, July 14.—Business men here who entered a combine to make Austin a "blue" Sunday city had somewhat of a shock today when they were informed that to enter such a pact might result in suits being filed against them for violation of the anti-trust laws. This information was gleaned after a committee of business men eluded on the attorney general today if an oral agreement would result in such suits being brought. They were informed that an oral agreement was the same as a written agreement. Following this agreement, several restaurant owners, who previously announced their intention of joining with others and closing on Sunday, announced they would open their establishments tomorrow.

A concerted fight was started Friday of this week to close the doors of all drug stores, restaurants, cafes and hamburger stands. Nearly all agreed to close until they were informed of the cutting of the attorney general to-day.

The "blue" Sunday movement has been termed a fiasco by many private citizens and business men. Others have alluded to the movement as a "village squabble."

Port Arthur College Notes

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ADOPTED

Student government for Port Arthur Business college was unanimously adopted by the student body in chapel Tuesday morning when the question of inaugurating the system was brought up by Ted Matthews, president of the student body. The plan has the sanction of Leonard Fowler, president of the college, and the entire faculty.

NEW STUDENTS ARRIVE

Two freshmen in the dormitory give promise of a week-end initiation. A full dress parade Friday night, and a full dress initiation Saturday night were staged in honor of the new members of Mother Landy's family, who are Singularity, Howard, of Blanks, La., and Miss Minnie Cornier, of Lake Charles, La.

DORMITORY WEDDING

Wedding bells rang through the halls and campus Friday evening when Miss Ruth Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Turner, of Amarillo, Texas, and Lynmin Mills, member of the Port Arthur police department, were married. Mrs. Mills will remain at the dormitory until the vacation starting August 17.

COOKS FOR SIXTY

Three square meals for 60 boys and girls is the daily achievement of Mother Landy, dormitory matron. And add to the feat the fact that Mother Landy has only one other woman to help her.

PERSONAL MENTION

Misses Della Barlow and Sybil Sautley spent Sunday in Beaumont with Miss Isola Hill.

Miss Sadie Vincent has gone to her home in Sulphur to stay until the fall term begins in September.

Miss Ruth Landy of Beaumont is ill at the home of her mother, Mrs. Lillian Landy. Miss Landy was recently returned from Dallas, Texas, where she underwent an operation on her throat.

Dr. C. R. Robinson has spent most of this week at the dormitory.

Mrs. Hazel Woodman spent several days in Palacios at the Baptist encampment.

Music at the regular chapel hour Tuesday by Charles Palmer and his famous orchestra is announced.

Miss Doris Clegg is living at the dormitory now, her folks having moved to Mea, Arkansas.

Here are some of the names of the charter members of the Campusology club: Corn and Ben, Dollie and Bush, Roy and Ola, Andy and Jop, Jackie and Alice, Ted and Lila, Hobbs and Red, Chris and Mae, Sue and Flop, Roy and Carmen, Roy and Knack, Ruth and Speedy.

A. S. King left this week for A. and M. college where he will study during the summer and fall terms. King will return to Port Arthur Business college next summer to finish his bookkeeping course.

Fort Worth, Tarpon Club's Home, Is a Luxury Ship

Floating Fishing Balace, Modernly Equipped With Comforts, To Be Anchored Behind West Jetty

Yo ho, ho, and the tarpons strike. Mackerel running and red fish bite. Down on the jetties when the water's right. Come on, boys, we'll spend the night.

A home on the billowy wave, with all the sickening motion of the sea, is the club ship "Fort Worth" of the Port Arthur Tarpon Club.

Luxury, convenience, well, just simply all the comforts of home plus hotel accommodations are going into the ship as carpenters, electricians, painters, furnishers, tinner, engineers and a host of cleaners make the club ship ready for towing to her anchorage off the west jetty next week.

A Floating Hostelry

She's lying against the bank in the Gulf Refining company's ship turning basin now, while scores of workmen swarm inside of her and outside of her, transforming decks, state-rooms, dining saloons, bulkheads and superstructures into a clean, spic and span floating clubhouse. Down in the holds more men are installing large galvanizing tank, where fresh water supplies will be kept. A central pumping plant near the tanks will keep flowing fresh water in the state rooms, galley and wash rooms, while near by another pump will draw in salt water out of the Gulf of Mexico for those desiring a briny shower.

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the "Fort Worth" is the refrigerating plant going into her. With a capacity of several tons, the ice plant will give cold storage compartments, where fish, fruits, fresh vegetables, dairy products and other perishables can be kept indefinitely, in addition to insulating supplies of ice for drinking water and beverages.

One day this week, when the tide is high, and the last of the reconditioning, furnishing and decorating work aboard is finished, the Fort Worth will be towed to her anchorage behind up on the soft sand off the west jetty, anchored fore and aft and opened to members of the Tarpon club, their families and friends. Fishing boats will be launched over the side of the Fort Worth, and members stepping out of their state-rooms can put out to the fishing grounds before breakfast.

They'll Welcome Him

Upon the return of the Banak Walton with their catches, a chief will be at the gangway to meet them, taking the fish and cleaning and cooking them while the fishermen go to the showers and get ready for breakfast. For the week-end guests on the Fort Worth, hammocks slung under snowy canvas, lounge chairs and couches on wind-swept decks will provide rest during the hours of the day when it is too hot to fish or swim. In the cool of the evening, and the early morning, plunges in the Gulf or a few minutes sailing to the fishing grounds will be the diversion, and at night a virtuoso for dancing on the deck and various other amusement features will be provided.

"Members can bring their families down for a week-end outing because of the facilities provided on the Fort Worth," Charley Stevenson, one of the members, said. "Arrangements will be made for leaving the automobiles at Sabine and taking a launch out to the Fort Worth. We planned to have a caretaker aboard the club ship, and when the fitting out work is finished, we will have accommodations for at least 100 guests," Stevenson said.

The Fort Worth was built during the war, but never used. The length of the ship is 284 feet, width 45, and depth 25 feet. It is of double hull construction, the outer shell being seven inches thick planking. The inner six inch planking.

The ship has staterooms, cabins, galley, dining saloon, showers, refrigerating, electric generating machinery and various other features for insuring comfort and convenience, and the anchorage chosen for it behind the west jetty is, in the opinion of marine men, storm proof.

The list of the membership to date in the Tarpon club, which will use the Fort Worth as their club ship, is as follows:

War on 'Pittsburgh Plus' System May Be Urged by 10 States

CHICAGO, July 14.—Michigan, Indiana, Missouri, Nebraska, South Dakota and Colorado will be asked to join Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota in the fight on the Pittsburgh plus system in the steel industry.

Preliminary plans for a public campaign to arouse sentiment against the plan were formed at a conference of representatives from four states here. An organization will be completed July 21 and offices to direct the campaign will be opened in Chicago.

The plan to attack agreed upon is to convince the federal trade commission that Pittsburgh plus violates either the Clayton act or the federal act, preventing development of steel resources of the west and places a discriminatory burden of millions of dollars upon western steel consumers.

Wax from Texas Plant Has Big Sale in England

MARATHON, Texas, July 14.—John Marshall of Marathon is shipping 5,000 pounds of candle wax to London, England. It is the largest single shipment of this product ever made from here. The wax is obtained from the wild candle plant which grows profusely upon the banks of this region. Thousands of this plant have been shipped from Japan have reached the port of London. There are many of these candle plants in Texas along the Rio Grande, and nearly every week a shipment of two leaves Marathon or Alpine for foreign countries, principally France. Canadian wax is used chiefly for the manufacture of phonograph records, and high grade "marah."

WHITE SON OF PRINCESS RICH

Grandchild of Missionary Is Heir to $5,000,000

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 14.—A boy from Honolulu, about a 10-year-old lad whose annual allowance has just been increased from $9000 to $16,000 by the courts, is of interest throughout this region.

The little boy's name is Richard Smart, and his income is derived from one of the largest ranches in the world, valued at $5,000,000. When he becomes of age, his income will be $200,000 a year.

The name of Richard Smart conjures up a romance not yet forgotten by persons in Tennessee, Arkansas and Missouri, whose memories run back about 25 years ago when the Rev. Richard D. Smart was pastor of the First Methodist Church, South, of this city and was known throughout the three states. In his church many of the men now prominent in the South were married.

He came to Memphis from St. Louis and, after serving four years at First church, was transferred to Norfolk.

Dr. Smart had a son named Richard, who was in the prime of his young manhood when his father held the Memphis charge. He was closely associated with Richard Trent, then assistant superintendent of the First church's Sunday school, and with John R. Pepper, who is in his 34th consecutive year as superintendent of the First church's Sunday school.

Trent went to Hawaii, then newly acquired by the United States. He made good and wrote back home for young Smart.

Smart followed. Nor did he wait until he arrived at Hawaii before embarking on a career that led to fortune, romance and happiness. On board the steamer on the Pacific he met a Hawaiian princess and before the liner reached Honolulu they were engaged.

The young American became master of a large ranch belonging to the estate of his bride, and from this came the fortune that will come into the possession of 10-year-old Richard Smart, sole heir to the ranch since the recent deaths of his father and mother.

Most of Richard's time is spent on the Pacific coast. His annual visit to the ranch is marked by a celebration and barbecue in which the couple's friends participate. It is at this time that the gifts are distributed.

IMPORTED LADYBUGS DISLIKE TREE SPRAYS

YAKIMA, Wash., July 14.—Ladybugs dislike the lime spray used by orchardists and are migrating into the mountains. These beetles were brought in from China and California to prey upon the green and red aphids destructive to the tender new growths of fruit trees. For this purpose they are valued. Botanists acquainted with the habits of the spotted beetles think they will return to the orchards after the lime mixture has lost its tenacious odor.

CHLOROFORM RAG ON POLE BAGS PANTHER

NANAIMO, B. C., July 14.—With the carcass of the one hundred and thirty-first panther which has fallen to his prowess as hunter, Jim Craig of Craig's Crossing hunter in what is probably the only panther killed by chloroform outside a circus cage. Craig generally shoots big cats, but this particular animal had lamed his son, Duncan, and scratched Craig's forearm in a previous encounter. Craig went back with a lethal rag attached to a 40-foot pole, and rendered the animal helpless. When it fell from its refuge in a tree with a lasso round its neck, it was so far gone that the bullet was unnecessary.

DRIVER FLEES WHEN AUTO STRIKES BABY

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 14.—Eva Cox, 2 years old, was cut on her face when knocked down by an automobile here. The driver did not stop.

CHARMS THE WATER

Miss Dorothy Slade, Pittsburgh high school girl, recently won a fancy-dancing contest in that city. She also was the winner of the beauty contest held in her school. Friends say she is the perfect combination of beauty and athletic skill.

JUMBLES RADIO THEN DECODES IT

Device Is Expected to Give Secrecy in Transit

BERLIN, July 14.—The coded instruction of the hiding place of the treasure in Poe's "Gold Bug," must now be relegated to the primer class of secret codes. Here Dr. Geheimrat Scherbins has perfected a machine on which one can write the message in open language on the keyboard and the machine prints the message in code. The received of the message, written from the code copy as the letters appear and the machine decodes the message.

There is an old saying among code experts that any message that can be coded can be decoded, but this machine has defied experts so far. There are multitudes of gear wheels that work in harmony to make the life of a decoding expert barren of joy and success. After every 50 letters sent there is a complete code change, and the machine is capable of 15,000 simple combinations. Then there are the compound combinations which run the total number into millions. The chances of finding the right combination for a single line of fifty letters are about one in one hundred thousand; the chances of finding the sequence of combinations could be compared to the number of soviet rubles necessary to buy a ton of gold. Dr. Scherbins demonstrated his machine to the press. In appearance it looks like an overgrown typewriter of the 1800 vintage.

Bell-Miller Case Is Postponed to Nov. 12

AUSTIN, July 14.—Murder charges against Forrest Bell and John Miller, growing out of a street encounter at Sealy last September when four men lost their lives, has been postponed until November 12. This announcement was made by Judge Hamilton, district judge, before whom an assault murder charge against Miller is now being argued.

Arguments in the Miller case will not be completed before 5 p. m. today. John M. Mathis of Houston will close for the defense and District Attorney Dan Moody will close for the state.

JESSICA WILL WED IN CANADA

Young Earl Believes Ontario To End Trials

TORONTO, Ont., July 14.—Special dispatches received here from New York say Earl Northesk will take his bride-to-be, Miss Jessica Brown, to Hamilton, Ont., where he has hopes that a marriage license may be obtained from City Clerk Kent, sole issuer of marriage licenses there.

But Mr. Kent says he is not so sure that Earl Northesk can wed the former Follies girl in Hamilton, as he would have to be satisfied that the Canadian courts would recognize Jessica Brown's divorce, and Canadian courts do not recognize United States divorces.

Nevertheless the young earl is optimistic and has not abandoned hope of being married in the near future, somewhere, somewhere.

"Our honeymoon itinerary calls for stops in Montreal and Toronto, and we expect to visit many of the leading cities both in the United States and Canada. Our plans have not been made, but we may go to Toronto or Hamilton to be married," he is reported to have said.

In contrast to his fair betrothed, the earl has always displayed an admirable sang froid, in spite of their repeated failure to be married as the bride-to-be.

On the recent occasion when they vainly attempted to be married in New Jersey, Miss Brown relapsed into a stony silence, which she did not break from the closing of the office door behind them till their entrance into a waiting taxi.

TECH LOCATING BOARD TO PAY BOERNE VISIT

AUSTIN, July 14.—The first leg of the trip of the Texas technological locating board will be completed today with a visit to Boerne. Members left here early this morning and will return tonight leaving again Monday morning. Only four members left here but were joined at San Antonio by Dr. Bizzell, president of A. and M. college.

ANCIENT SWORD FOUND

TACOMA, Wash., July 14.—An historic relic was brought to light at Sitka, Alaska, this week when children found the handle of a sword sticking out of the ground. They dug out the weapon and found a fine steel blade with slight curve, similar to those used by pirates 100-150 years ago. Carvings of the rusty handle are distinctly Oriental. Search has been instituted in the vicinity for buried treasure.

QUAINT TITLES OF OLD BOOKS

Curtain Lifted on Precursors of Dime Novel

CLEVELAND, July 14.—An examination of the John A. White collection of reading matter of a century or so ago is like lifting the curtain on a stage set.

It is easy to conjure up a Dickensian picture of old London in the quaint little pamphlets, vest pocket size, many of them, that constituted virtually the whole of the reading available then. Long-winded titles had none of these "half portions" vulgarly such as "An Account of Some Strange Apparitions Had by a Goodly Man, an Kintyre Who Had Been Blind for Six Years: Containing Some Visional Predictions of Several Kingdoms to Befall These Three Kingdoms, Particularly Scotland," and so on for a half page or more.

There are many of these little chap-books, so called from the cheap men who cheapened them, peddled them about, in the collection, which purport to be eminently practical.

"Money-Catching" Manual. For instance there is "The Pleasing Art of Money Catching," published at London about 1780, and often reprinted, which gave such valuable advice as "How to Pay Debts Without Money," "How to Travel Without Money," and the like. However, most of the suggested methods would not meet with the hearty approval of the police these days.

Fairy tales, too, came out in chap-book form. The "White" collection shows how such publications, for the peddlers' trade made "popular" such stories as "Jack the Giant Killer," "Blue Beard," "Cinderella," and "Cinderella," and the like. However, most of the suggested methods would not meet with the hearty approval of the police these days.

Public in Peril. The chap-book publisher often was as odd as the peddler he hired. Witness James C. Hutchins, who died in London in 1840. Hutchins, one of the volunteers in the penitentiary for his books, pennies which often were a vivid green from the vinegar in which

ATTORNEYS PULL 52 JURY CASES

Heavy Fines Cause, Say the Court Officials

Jury trials in Port Arthur's corporation court are not popular, according to court officials. Here's what they base their assertion on:

From 54 cases filed on the docket a day or two ago demanding jury trials, the number is cut down to two, court attaches said today. These two remaining jury trials are set for hearing next week, when Judge H. G. Robinson, appointed special judge of corporation court by Mayor Logan, takes the bench for the first time since his appointment.

Judge A. W. Dwyer, judge of the court, leaves Tuesday with his family for an overland vacation trip to San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Galveston, and other Texas points. Judge Dwyer will return about August 1, he said.

HAIR CUT 5 CENTS AT OHIO STATE PEN

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 14.—After the barber had finished cutting your hair it would be starting to heat him say: "Five cents, please."

Or after a shave: "Two cents, please."

Such is the scale, however, in the barber shops in the Men's Reformatory at Mansfield and the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster.

DEMAND AN END TO ONTARIO SMUGGLING

TORONTO, July 14.—Immediate government action to curb smuggling from the United States into Canada, along the boundary line, and with particular reference to the St. Lawrence river frontier, was demanded at the annual meeting of the Eastern Ontario Merchants association, held in Brockville.

Machines for the detection of the deadly carbon monoxide gas, for use in American mines are now being tested.

18 Cases Daily in City Court Month's Average

Averaging 18 cases daily since its opening session a month ago, corporation court has disposed of 450 of the 506 cases lodged on the docket, court officials said today.

Of the 506 cases lodged on the corporation court docket since the opening session a month ago, 450 cases have been disposed of, court officials said today.

Fines and sentences have ranged from $1 to $200 and costs, and from two days to six months in jail, the records show. A number of trials in the court have been on complaints which formerly had to be handled in county court-at-law, at Beaumont. It is pointed out.

In a gram of rod, about equal to a teaspoonful, the number of living organisms often exceeds 40,000,000.

THEN AND NOW

Wayne B. Wheeler is the legal adviser of the Anti-Saloon League of America. He is great when it comes to figures. His figures show that in three years has saved five thousand lives; caused a seventy-four per cent reduction in the number of charity cases in America; made a seventy per cent cut in deaths from alcoholism and diverted immense sums once spent for liquor to channels of legitimate business.

In addition homes are being built at the rate of nearly nine thousand new homes per month; each month seven million dollars are being invested in social and recreational buildings to replace the saloon as the poor man's club; the monthly average cost of religious buildings is close to nine million dollars while an average of nearly three thousand new members joined the church daily during the year of 1922.

And organized labor has gone into the banking business. There are labor banks in many of the leading cities of America and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers is the directing force of a great bank in Cleveland and a big trust company in the city of New York. Wayne B. Wheeler may be a fanatic on the subject of prohibition but the showing that he has made should be an object lesson to the rising generation.

In the good old days Americans spent two billion dollars a year for intoxicating beverages. Now this vast sum goes into the channels of legitimate industry. As an economic proposition the business men of America or a great majority of them are of the opinion that prohibition is a staggering success.

According to the statistics of last year the people of the British Isles invested three million dollars in intoxicating beverages. Now how long will it be possible in the long run for a nation half drunk to compete with a nation all sober?

This isn't a brief for prohibition. It is a statement of facts as they appear on the surface.

INDIVIDUALISM GO HANG

Official Washington predicts the coming of general crop insurance and officials of the department of agriculture are strong for it. They say crop insurance should cover actual damage sustained but not theoretical losses resulting from failure to reap expected profits.

They hold that the farmer ought to be able to get all necessary coverage on a single policy, giving protection against damage from drought or excessive moisture, from plant pests, from storms and frosts, from hail and hot winds and from other dangers.

Isn't this going to be a grand old world. Why shouldn't the government insure domestic felicity and matrimonial bliss? Give all the people a run for their money.

Make Uncle Sam the great father of all. Let individualism go hang. Make all the people the wards of the nation. Poor Lo is a ward of the nation. Why not his white brother?

MONEY IN MEAT

There should be money in the livestock industry. A Chicago trade paper says that the traffic this season has been the heaviest in years and that twenty markets have received 25,326,000 head of stock since January 1, compared with 20,754,000 last year.

This shows that the American working man and his dependents are eating meat. There were a million idle workmen in America two years ago. They are not idle today.

An American dollar has a purchasing power of sixty-three cents compared with the dollar of 1913. There may be cheap wheat this winter but cheap meat has gone forever—that is for the consumer.

Who gets the velvet? The livestock producer or the men who buy and produce the meat for market.

COMPLETE COUNT

Publicity is the thing. Henry Ford gets it without asking. The count has been made by the Collier judges of the votes cast in the presidential poll. A total of 259,533 votes were counted. Ford has 88,865 and Harding 51,755, or a majority of 37,110 votes for the man who admitted without batting an eye that the most of history is bunk. McAdoo led the democrats with 19,401 to 16,268 for Cox and 15,76 for Al Smith. This was not a selective poll. It was not a poll of the political bosses of the country. It was a free for all of the readers of Colliers Weekly. Next!

MAN AND HIS MUG

A New York preacher asserts that the club men of that city have machine age faces. There are many clubmen who have poker faces. There are many clubmen who have monkey faces but the poker face or the monkey face is not confined exclusively to clubdom. There are monkey face, machine face and poker face men who never saw the inside of a club.

This aforesaid preacher contends that the machine face club man is an individual who has forgotten his God and is a worshipper at the shrine of Mammon. There are Mammon worshippers to be found in the churches as well as outside of the churches so why hammer the machine age face of the New York clubman?

Of course this newspaper is for the triumph of things of the spirit or of the self over the things of gold but coin is mighty useful and many of those who affect to despise it the most love it the best.

There are dog face men. Why overlook them? There are pie face men. They are in evidence. There is a pie-baiting campaign coming in the near future.

"WELL, SO LONG!"

How many miles a day do you travel, to and from your work? How many miles a year? Figure it up. It may surprise you. But would you trade places with John C. Emmons? He lives on a Maine farm and rides by train 96 miles every morning; to work in Boston, then 96 miles home again every night.

To accomplish this he has to leave home at 5:30 in the morning. Reaches his Boston office at 9:15. Leaves the office at 3:55 in the afternoon. Gets home at 7:45.

In all, Emmons spends over eight hours, getting to and from work. This is an exceptional case. But the average city inhabitant devotes at least an hour to traveling back and forth between office and home.

Sometimes it makes us wonder if we shouldn't get paid for this time—like, for instance, the plumber starting out on his job. Emmons has to be in Boston daily. For Boston is headquarters of three corporations of which he is treasurer. He's willing to travel 192 miles a day, devoting over eight hours to the trip, in order to live at his boyhood home and sleep nightly in the room where he was born.

A lure more powerful than steel going to the magnet, is home. That's why it's next to impossible to readjust the map of Europe amiably. For home isn't home when an invader bosses it.

Another phenomenal commuter is Joseph C. Beck, 62, of Goshen, Ind. For 36 years he has been a railway mail clerk on the New York Central, always on the same run—between Chicago and Cleveland.

Soon to retire on a pension, Beck reminiscently gets busy with a pencil and estimates that in the 36 years he has traveled close to three million miles on his mail run.

How would you like to have to travel the same distance, year in and year out, repeatedly over the same territory? And still some of us think our work is monotonous.

Twenty or thirty years ago the person who planned a long railroad trip was the talk of the neighborhood. Now he shows up missing, after an absence of a few weeks, tells how many thousands miles he covered—and his listeners yawn.

We have become a nation of tramps. The auto is largely responsible for all this; also prompt and speedy train service.

At that, though, we're stay-at-homes compared with our descendants who will hop into their airplanes and take week-end journeys to the far corners of the earth. By stretching the imagination a trifle, we can picture picnics scheduled for 1000 or more miles away.

How long until we weary of earth travel and lead our planes out in space to the other planets and the moon?

NEEDS A NEW BIRTH

Bishop F. J. McConnell of Pennsylvania is opposed to a twelve-hour working day because he says a man hasn't much of a chance to become a Christian when thus employed. And in order to abolish the twelve-hour working day the bishop insists that big business needs a new birth. For this reason he has decided to preach the gospel to big business in order to bring it in harmony with the gospel of the square deal.

Forty per cent of the laborers in the steel plants of Pennsylvania are negroes imported from the south. This count has been made by a noted newspaper correspondent who became a laborer in the steel plants to obtain close-up material for his articles for the press. He advises the good bishop to go and do likewise.

Now just imagine a bishop functioning as a laborer in a steel plant. He would last just about as long as a snowball in hades.

RAIL PROSPERITY

American railroads continue to earn an average return in excess of the 5-3-4 per cent net fixed by the interstate commerce commission. There was an increase of more than forty-two per cent in earnings in May this year over May last year. Freight traffic in May this year not only exceeded the preceding month but the heaviest of any month so far this year.

All this goes to show that the American railways are not facing bankruptcy. Are the farmers of America making 5-3-4 per cent annually on their investment? According to their official leaders they are living from hand to mouth and doing the best they can. They work from sun until sun, they do not enjoy summer vacations, their leaders were not asked by A. D. Lasker to go on the Leviathan junketing trip and the funny paragraphs of the country refer to them as the Reuben Hiekses of the nation.

'Tis true they ride in Fords but the men who never till the soil and yet handle the products of the soil enjoy life in their limousines or sail their private yachts on the seven seas of the world. It has been so from the beginning. It may be so when time shall be no more.

Those who do the rough work of the world never revel in the luxuries of the world. They are the sons of Martha and not the sons of Mary.

Fatty Arbuckle is taking down six thousand dollars per week in a skit of his own on the Atlantic City board walk. Virtue hath its own reward.

Now they are going to pay the president of the Texas University $10,000 a year. Professor J. M. Willard only received $120,000 when the Pampas bull gored him. Is the last mightier than the brain?

'Souls For Sale' a Movie of Hollywood Folk

Richard Dix, Barbara La Marr, Eleanor Boardman and Frank Mayo.

An advance notice says: "Souls for Sale" is a good deal of interest. It tells the story of life in the movie colony at Hollywood. In being transferred to the screen the story has gained materially, being filmed on actual locations, in and around the studios, with scenes showing the most popular stars and directors actually at work on the "lot."

Probably the greatest group of stars ever seen here-to-fare are gathered together in this production, the actual leads being portrayed by Richard Dix who does excellent work as the young director, Eleanor Boardman is very pleasing as Men, the unknown beauty who wins fame in the movie colony. Low Tully is seen as the aged villain, Frank Mayo as Tom Holly, and the seven ideal, also Barbara La Marr and Mae Busch.

Besides these leads between 30 and 40 well known directors, actors and actresses are seen. "Souls for Sale" opens a five-day engagement at the Palace theatre Monday of this week.

FLYING

Travel by airplane is increasing rapidly in Europe. Several different companies over there are operating air lines, carrying more than 50,000 passengers a year.

The routes covered by these air lines total 5000 miles. And no buying a ticket of way, no laying rails, building roadbeds, blasting tunnels, bridging rivers. This must make thoughtful at times. When a really safe, fool-proof airplane comes on the market and begins competing in earnest with the railroads—as is inevitable—it'll have a lot of big advantages on its side.

RAILS

Will railroad tracks be torn up and train traffic abandoned when the airplane sweeps into widespread use (probably in our generation)? Some flying enthusiasts think so—and are predicting so.

But it's more logical that we'll need both railroads and airplanes, just as we need both horses and autos, freight trains and motor trucks. The railroads already are inadequate for our transportation needs just as the stage-coach some 75 years ago, became hopelessly overburdened with traffic. And the railroads, will never catch up with needs. Right now they are near the peak of their development, holding the trenches until the airplane comes to the rescue.

CHURCHES

In Canada, the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational churches, unite, Baptists and Anglicans may join them. This would fuse practically all the Protestants of that country into one organization.

Twenty years ago this would have been considered impossible, though many clergymen for centuries have hoped for it.

It's a movement that may spread.

PESTS

Caterpillars, marching in armies of millions, delay trains four hours in New Brunswick. Seventeen carloads and tent caterpillars play havoc in states east of the Mississippi. The boll weevil is conducting business as usual. Wheeling, W. Va., telegraphs that swarms of strange beetles are destroying sugar cane by orchards, impervious to boiling water and poison, eating an occasional hen. Not to mention cut worms, borers, etc.

It's a great year for the insects, who may inherit the earth from us. Why not stop fighting and stealing from each other long enough to battle the insect pests and other common enemies?

WAR

Fuller, of the British army general staff, thinks the big war weapons of the future will be propaganda to weaken the enemy's will and discredit his cause, and economic warfare to attack the national will through the national stomach.

Fuller thinks the element of slaughter is losing out as an essence in deciding combat. Attacks will be directed at civilians rather than armies—especially by gas that will put the victims to sleep until enemy police arrive, on the theory that one live slave is worth a dozen jobs for the undertaker.

The militarists, you'll observe, consider "the next war" inevitable. The mob may disagree. The crowd—decisively.

KISMET

The World War began nine years ago the 28th of this month, July. It was the first phase of a gigantic social upheaval, and only a few who are now living will survive to learn what it was all about—that is, the ultimate goal. The war itself merely set the stage for a performance that as yet is but barely started.

That performance, in the long run, will not be a comedy of errors.

WALTON MIXES IT WITH POETRY

Engraved Document Tells Girl She's Laureate

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., July 14.—(The Jack Walton, the Farmer-Laborer administration leader, whose name is in office has been marked by tradition, has decided to mix his politics with poetry.

An engraved document, two feet high and one foot across, bearing the gold seal of the sovereign state and the governor's signature, has been forwarded through the mails by Victor McDougal, 22, and pretty, of Sapulpa, appointing her Oklahoma's first poet laureate. It is the sixth such official position in the United States.

Miss McDougal is in New York visiting her sister in Greenwich Village, but will return to Guthrie to begin her duties as official singer in the court of Oklahoma's picturesque executive, who fought his way to leadership from the ranks. Miss McDougal is the daughter of Mrs. D. A. McDougal of Sapulpa, former president of the Oklahoma Federation of Women's Clubs and active in democratic politics. Miss McDougal was known in literary circles long before the governor created the new state position for her.

A member of a family of poets, she early demonstrated that the muse was her friend. In high school she wrote several verses that attracted attention and later succeeded in having some of her western verse published extensively in eastern papers.

She has been declared by critics to be one of the most promising of the younger poets of the middle west. She will soon begin work on an "official" state poem for Oklahoma, designed to express the state's individuality. She began her first writing at 10. Her sister and mother also have written verse that has won praise.

Nail Polish Fails To Polish Manners, But He Is Brighter

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., July 14.—"I intend to clean my own fingernails from now on," was the statement of L. W. Carr, cashier of the Southwest Cotton Oil company, who was released from the county jail.

Carr and L. N. Langford, a fellow worker at the oil company, confessed to having planned a holdup of himself and Miss Billie Sorrels, manicurist at a downtown barber shop, in order to get back a diamond ring that he had given the girl.

A fine of $200 a few minutes later served to strengthen his intention. L. N. Langford, his accomplice, was fined $100.

The two men pleaded guilty when arraigned before O. J. Price, district judge, the information charging a conspiracy to commit robbery. J. K. Wright, county attorney, recommended light fines.

"I knew every time I saw that girl I was getting in deeper," Carr said. "Neither Langford nor myself ever were mixed up in any holdup affairs or crime of any kind, and I guess it was our inexperience that caused us to be caught. You can tell the world that I am going to clean my own fingernails for a while, they can go without polish I guess, and there will be no more manicurists, not any other woman in my life outside my wife from here on."

Textbook Contract Up To Texas State Board

AUSTIN, July 14.—Attorneys for the American Book company will not file a motion for rehearing in the look concern's application for a writ of mandamus recently denied by the supreme court. Time for filing a motion for rehearing expires Sunday night. This leaves the question of passing upon the textbook contracts, let last December by the textbook commission up to the state board of education. Attorneys following the case state this action on the part of the book company in no filing a motion for rehearing is taken as meaning the book company considers the action of the supreme court as favorable.

HEALTH DISCIPLE LAUDS SCHOOLS

Dr. Martin, 90 Years Young,
Sees Future Ahead

Dr. W. M. Martin is pleased with Port Arthur.

Its college is the best of its kind in the country, and the Franklin school building has greatly impressed the "90-year-young marvel."

"I am told that two-thirds of the Port Arthur school children go barefooted the year round. In proportion to the time they go barefooted can their health be estimated?"

With this unique refractory statement, Dr. W. M. Martin, who has been in the city since last Sunday and who will be here till Saturday of this week, expressed a sturdy opinion of Port Arthur's educational institutions.

A personal exemplification of his message of "perfect mental and physical health," to which he is giving time church the rest of this week, a series of lectures at the First Christian church, Dr. Martin entertained the belief that Port Arthur is one of the coming cities of the state, in its commercial development, and not less so in its educational possibilities.

Parent-Teachers association, and this speaks well for the city's educational development," Dr. Martin said. The state of Texas is progressing by leaps and bounds in the organization of Parent-Teachers' associations, in his estimation of America's greatest institution, he said.

Admitting that he was a globe trotter, having crossed the Atlantic ocean 10 times and the Pacific six times, and having traveled on all the water routes in the Atlantic and Indian oceans, "It is strange that I should find an interest in Port Arthur, but it has impressed me very favorably," said the health exponent.

For the past six years he has made his home in Texas, teaching and lecturing in Fort Worth and Dallas and visiting other parts of the state.

"Texas will become the leading state of the union in education when its mothers awaken to a realization of the kind of children that will make its future legislators," he declared.

Dr. Martin drifted into a discussion of "Motherhood," his favorite subject. "The best teachers in America are mothers who have children," said Dr. Martin. "The country are mothers with children; many of the best platform lecturers in the country are mothers who have children," said Dr. Martin.

Up to 20 years ago the American standard of motherhood was the highest in the world, but this has now shifted to Denmark and Sweden, while the Filipino mothers are the greatest among the Malay races, the speaker declared. He mentioned the mother of the present king of England and the mother of George Washington as two outstanding examples of what a mother can do, but said that the world has been and is full of wonderful mothers. "Show me your mothers and I will tell you of your mental, moral and physical progress," Dr. Martin said.

DE MOLAY IS OUT WITH 1000

With an initial subscription list of 1,000, the first edition of The DeMolayan, official journal of the Port Arthur DeMolay and Rainbow chapters, was issued during the week just past.

The paper will be published twice monthly, going to all members of Masonic orders in the city, members of the Rainbow chapter and DeMolay chapter. Four times of news matter of interest to the subscribers comprised the first issue of the DeMolayan, and it is planned to increase the size of the paper as the demand warrants. DeMolay chapter officials said.

Headed by J. Mason Barron as editor-in-chief, the DeMolayan staff is composed of Henry Schroeder, managing editor; Eddie Axtell, associate editor; Lloyd Wilkies, associate editor; Jack Hoffmann, advertising manager; and Miss Mary Warren.

ESTHETIC DANCERS FLEE BEFORE MOUSE

BELOIT, Wis., July 14.—A well-cultured college mouse, his academic whiskers, vanguarding to the cadence of an esthetic dance symphony, almost broke up a dance interlude held on the Beloit campus here.

Scintillating and cooing were doing interpretive dances before a big audience in front of the chapel when the mouse appeared on one of the Indian mounds in the midst of the female section of the audience.

FORMER MODEL SUED FOR LOVE

But It's for Love of Money
He Gave Her

BOSTON, July 14.—Ever since it, annual suit filed against her by James M. Fisk was made public Mrs. Flora S. Lowe has been in seclusion, living with friends in East Boston.

Fisk's suit against her is one of the most remarkable on record in Massachusetts courts. Stripped of its legal language his allegations are that: He entered into an arrangement with Mrs. Lowe to live illegally with her as man and wife. In consideration of this agreement he consented to be placed in trust for her in March, 1921, the sum of $5,000. He also furnished an apartment for her and bought an automobile for her use.

Demand Money Back

Upon the termination of their relationship he demanded the money, furniture and automobile.

She refused to return them. In her answer, filed after Judge Wade in superior court had tied up the $5,000 by an injunction until the case is decided, Mrs. Lowe, who twenty years ago was a well-known artist's model, denied all the allegations of Fisk.

Says Auto Was Gift

She asserted that Fisk gave her the auto as a gift for the purpose of transporting her from Chicago to Boston, so that she could live with him there.

She says the $5,000 and the furniture is her property, acquired from her earnings and from the sale of certain property owned by her.

Mrs. Lowe refuses to discuss the details of her life with Fisk. The latter, who is married, likewise declines to discuss the affair. The case is due to come to trial soon.

Visitor Is Warned; Bottled Kicks Were Kept in This Barn

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—"Keep away from them stalls; you're apt to get kicked."

Unfamiliar of this warning, a new exhibition agent penetrated the gloom of an abandoned stable, partly serving as a garage, in Kensington street near Sixth, and discovered 208 cases containing "bottled kicks" worth $50,000. There was no assortment of the entire lot of wet goods proved to be imported champagne.

SPURGIN BROKE, RETURN IS NEAR

Fair Weather Friends Ready
To Give Wrecker Up

CHICAGO, July 14.—Warren C. Spurgin, indurative Chicago bank wrecker, may shortly be returned from Mexico, officials of the company bonding his wrecked institution, said tonight.

Spurgin fled from Chicago in 1921 leaving behind a shell of the Michigan Trust company of which he was head. Depositors lost nearly a million and a half dollars. It is alleged.

Before his flight he was known as a cabinet habitue, a spender and a consort of pretty women. He is said to have fled to Mexico where he paid political forces to protect him from extradition by kidnapping by private detective.

Spurgin is now reported ill and penniless, and the men whom he has paid tribute are ready to deliver him across the border for a "good consideration."

ELECTRIC LIGHT AWES ANCIENTS

Indiana Hill People Prefer Candles

INDIANAPOLIS, July 14.—Brown county, famous for its hills, hillbillies and log jacks, is going to have a new look-up, and—

Chandler, a thriving center in War-rick county, near Brownville, has elec-tric lights for the first time, much to the perturbation of the older settlers. Chandler is situated in the Ohio river district, where they still make tallow candles, and it has been agog ever since the Brownville light company started stringing wires into it several weeks ago. Harry Smith, boss of the job, found himself received with some interesting if not original questions by the inhabitants, some of whom had never seen an electric light.

One woman was shown electric light bulbs and was told that the little wires in them would produce a bright light. She was skeptical. Smith told her the bulb would glow up like a ball of fire when the "juice" was turned on. Then she wondered if she could get burned from the bulb. Smith assured her she could not. "Go on," she replied, "you can't tell me that any one can touch a ball of fire and not get burnt."

Electric Iron? No. The advantages of the electric iron were explained by a snappy salesman to another lady.

"You can't fool me," she declared as a finale to the interview. "No iron can get hot without being set down on a good hot stove."

And that settled that prospect. Now, Brown county, or rather its capital, Nashville, has had electric lights for quite a while—long enough that most of the inhabitants have learned never to stick a finger in a bulbless socket, but these many years the inhabitants have clung de-ciesly to their old log jacks.

For some time the jail has been in such a sad state of dilapidation that it couldn't fit the prisoners, much less a desperate criminal, and the county has been "bouncing" its prisoners at Franklin, the county seat of an adjoining county.

To Be Remodeled. However, the old jail is to be re-modeled and preserved as a shrine to pioneer days. It will be made a show place. The county will build a combination sheriff's residence and jail with three cells—enough room, it reckons, to hold all the desperados it will produce at any given time.

It took quite a lot of convincing to get an O. K. for the $10,000 that the jail will cost. Many persons de-clared that the old jail was plenty good enough. As they saw it, if they built a fancy jail, with a lot of com-fortable cells, and maybe baths, every-body in the county would be trying to get into it.

Sheriff Sam Parks allows that he'd be damned glad to have a new jail, so as he won't have to tote all his prisoners to Franklin whenever he has any, which he hasn't; but he can't just figure out how he is going to be comfortable in any new-fangled house with open plumbing and other modern features.

KNOW YOUR CAR, IS GISH'S ADVICE

Dealer Finds Negligence Pre-valent Among Owners

"Do you know the license number of your motor car?" asks Earl L. Gish, local Durant dealer.

"If you do," he continues, "you are one of the few who really make it their business to memorize their car number. Taken as an average, about seven out of ten when asked the num-ber of their automobile, are obliged to rummage through their pockets and oftentimes go as far as to look at their car to furnish the information.

"This condition should be rectified. Now, if you use a motor car constantly or even occasionally, it is worth studying. You would not forget the number of your house or telephone. Then why should you slight your motor car?

"Thousands of motor cars are being stolen each year. Statistics show that this number is increasing. Who knows, but what your car may be one of the many this year? It is much easier to trace a car when all the numbers of that car have been furnished than it is by description only. If you do not know the num-bers on your license plates as well as the motor and serial numbers, learn them today. This information may come in mighty handy when you think you have the least need for it."

Wife With Luxurious Home Scorns Hubby's Flat; He Gets Decree

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 14.—A wealthy wife must live in the home of her husband, even though it be a hut, Chancellor Edward R. Walker ruled in granting an interlocutory decree of divorce on the grounds of desertion to Clifford G. Miller of New York.

Mr. Miller's wife, Charlotte E. Miller, has a home that is one of the show places of Belmar, N. J., while he lives in a modest five room flat. The court ruled that although the husband is a resident of New York state, he could sue in New Jersey, as his wife has lived there three years.

The plaintiff testified he and his wife had been separated two years be-cause she refused to give up her Bel-mar home. Mrs. Miller and her two sons, C. O. Miller, Jr., 22, and James P. Miller, 14, all testified they "hated his."

Business Woman, Mother Too

MRS. EDYTH SCHILLER AT WORK

WORCESTER, Mass., July 13.—Never let marriage interfere with busi-ness.

No says Mrs. Edyth Schiller, Wor-cestor woman who is a success as a business woman as well as a mother. There isn't much relation between painting china and raising children, but Mrs. Schiller supplemented one with the other.

"I always loved to paint," she said, "even when a child. I naturally de-lifted into the work. I've been at it 14 years."

She met her husband while work-ing. "Of course," she says, "after my marriage I had to give up work for a while—but it wasn't for long."

"Now my three children help me. My daughter Olive, 17, paints with me. Together we have won several prizes for our work."

Their business has spread from Worcester all over the country.

TEXAS FREIGHT TRAFFIC BOOMS

Car Loadings Reach 1,002,-740 for Week

Traffic all over the Dallas region at district is growing.

That fact is indicated in communi-cations received during the past week by Frank Potts, traffic manager of the Chamber of Commerce, who said that detailed reports from the Amer-ican Railway Association show that loadings for the week ending June 23 total 1,002,740 cars.

The report declares that "it is thus seen that four of the five weeks ending June 23 had loadings of over one million each. The loading since January 1 has been very heavy and considerably in advance of anything ever before experienced."

In 1921, from January 1 to June 23, week loadings for the district which includes Port Arthur, totalled 17,900,842 cars, while the same pe-riod for this year totals 22,901,655 cars, showing a large increase in business. A similar increase, Mr. Potts said the report showed, is in- dicated over the period of 1922.

"Grain is beginning to move in considerable quantities," the report continues, "the originating grain lines reporting for the first nine days of July approximately a 50 per cent in-crease over the same period of last year."

Movement of livestock and truck from truck gardeners of the south is also reported as "heavier than ever before."

POLICE CAPTURE BANDIT IN FIGHT

$1700 Recovered, Second Robber Escapes With $1800

CHICAGO, July 14.—Half success marked the attempt of two men to hold up Salvatore Schiave, 45, a clerk employed by the R. V. Romano Steamship agency at 825 Blue Island avenue, who was carrying $3,500 from the West Side Trust and Sav-ings bank, Roosevelt road and Hal-sted street. One of the robbers was captured and $1,700 recovered. The other escaped with the remainder, but was believed to have been wounded by three policemen of the Maxwell station.

May Face Murder Charge. In the battle between police and bandits, William Waldeman, 57, 2309 Canton street, was struck in the side by a bullet. The captured bandit, Wil-liam Carney, an escaped convict who was "doing life" for murder, will be tried for murder and the death penalty asked if Waldeman dies, po-lice said.

Schiave, who had reached Park street and Blue Island avenue safely with the money, was knocked uncon-scious by a blow on the head given by one of the men who alighted from an automobile. The other threw red pepper in Schiave's eyes.

Empies Revolver at Police. Sergeants George Barker and Otto Huddatz were a block away and ran to the scene. Probationary Policeman James Maloney joined them in the revolver battle in which the bandit who escaped emptied two revolvers at the policemen.

Carney, who was said to have been notorious as a gangster and gunman, and who escaped a year ago from Joliet, had only half of the money taken from Schiave. He refused to name his accomplice.

Now Bobbed Hair Is Taboo Among Misses

BALTIMORE, Md., July 14.—"Any student contemplating bobbing her hair will see me first," reads a notice on the bulletin board of the Johns Hopkins Nurses' home. The notice is signed by the superintendent and sounds an ominous note for those nurses who would enjoy the cool free-dom of bobbed locks this summer.

For sanitary purposes, it is ex-plaind, nurses are required to wear hair nets, and "what could be sadder than a hair net over bobbed hair?" they ask.

Plague of Moths Stops House Painting in Town

DEEP RIVER, Wash., July 14.—A plague of moths has halted paint-ing work here as the newly spread pest acts as fly-paper to the winged insects which adhere to walls and buildings by thousands.

The moths which are four times the size of house flies, appear at sun down and fit in clouds through the night. Nearby towns and Columbia river cities report the moths are so thick as to cover lighted display windows at night, fly around street lamps in such numbers as to darken the globes and fall to death by thou-sands.

So many moths litter the streets and sidewalks as to make automo-biling and walking dangerous.

The moths are believed to have appeared as a result of cold weather along the coast. The chill forced the queen moths to deposit their egg rings in the warmer valleys. For-tunately the life of these night-moths last only 50 hours.

'Baby Farmer' With 18, Tells Tragic Tale of Broken Home

Makes Long Trip With Them In Limousine, But One Dies and Authorities In-vestigate Odd Case

ALBANY, N. Y., July 14.—In these days when the farmer sees that his calves and piglets have plenty of fresh air and sunshine, the small space of a Brooklyn flat did not ap-pear to Mrs. Anna Stewers nor to the New York health department as the proper place for her baby farm with 18 children, most of them less than 5 years old, many less than a year.

Packing the children and one dog into a large limousine, for the hire of which she said she paid $350, she drove by night toward a farm near Schenectady. When she got as far as Schenectady she had to leave three of the babies in a hospital, and one of them died. That called the atten-tion of the authorities of that county. The district attorney and the official in charge of relief for the poor talked with the woman and learned that she had come from Brooklyn.

Tells of Her Baby Farm. At first she said that she was the mother of five of the children. Then later she explained that only three were hers. She had promised the par-ents of two others that the children should be "raised" as her own. She had not mentioned their parents to them she said.

Explaining her activities, she de-clared that the children, 14 of whom were under 5 years, had been left in her care. Whenever possible the par-ent leaving the child had paid her $20 for the care of the child during the summer.

Some of the children, she declared, were those whose fathers had been in-jured in some way during the World war, and the money given for their care of the babies was part of the sum allowed to such veterans as their fathers, by the government.

In other cases, according to her story, her children were those of par-ents who had been separated by po-verty or by the divorce court, or of persons who had divorce cases pend-ing.

For three years, she declared, she had taken numbers of babies into the country each summer. It was proved by the story of a real estate agent that she had been negotiating for the rental of a farm, an old house, an old horse, and an old cow, near Warren's lake, in the Adirondack mountains.

Why She Traveled by Night. The woman explained that she had made the journey from Brooklyn by night so that the children might not suffer by the heat of daytime travel over roads which were congested with motor traffic. The child who died, also, she asserted, was Arthur Carpel, a baby whose mother, Mrs. Stewers said, lives in Long Island City. At the direction of the county authorities Mrs. Stewers telegraphed to Mrs. Louisa Rosol, 27 Jackson avenue, in that city.

Tells Names of Kids. She gave the following names and ages of the surviving infants whom she said, were entrusted in her care by New York parents:

Richard Carpel, 22 months; Dor-othy Baldwin, 8 months; Thomas English, 3 months; Mary Casandaro, 7 months; Alfred Holpp, 2 months; Roseland Gershtoff, 3 months; An-drew Ferris, 5 months; Bernard Monahan, 6 months; William Kall-never, 2 months; Harold Ryan, 2 months; and Joseph, 9 months.

The five children the woman first claimed as her own are Mildred and Helen, 15 months; 4 years old; Oswald, 10; Grace, 14, and Margaret, 15.

Two other children, who she says belong to her relatives, and Kenneth Smith, 18 months, and Raymond King, 20 months.

NEGROES ABANDONING S. CAROLINA FARMS

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 14.—Since Nov. 1, 1922, 40,896 negroes have mi-grated from South Carolina to other states. The total number of farms abandoned in that time is 9,324, ac-cording to figures gathered by the extension service of Clemson College.

Since March 1, 1923, 14,722 acres of land planted in cotton and 4,000 acres planted in corn have been aban-doned.

Among counties reporting, the aver-age number of negro migrants in each has been 1,217; average number of farms abandoned, 423, and average cotton acreage abandoned, 1,051.

Bobby Cruikshank Ties Bobby Jones for Open Championship

With Determination Of Scotch Fathers, Novice Steps Ahead

Ribbed Mashie and Putter With Nerves of Steel Knot Count for Cruikshank and Call for Play-off Match Today in Inwood

By PAUL MALLON

INWOOD COUNTRY CLUB, LONG ISLAND, N. Y., July 14.—A midget Scotchman, Bobby Cruikshank, unknown out of his New Jersey neighborhood, tied young Bobby Jones, the Atlanta amateur, for first place in the national open championship here today.

As the hot sun was dropping over behind Jamaica Bay, Cruikshank came down to the big eighteenth green in front of the clubhouse to meet the test. He had one chance to tie and that was to play this last hole in a birdie three.

But with true Scotch calmness, he took his driver from his bag, swung it twice for practice and drove the ball down the fairway. It was a perfect drive but he was still 200 yards from the hole. Then with a ribbed mashie he pitched the ball up to the green. It got gravely over the water trap and bounced three times, rolling on. It stopped within four feet of the pin. The little Scotchman, hardly higher than his golf bag, took his putter out and went into the business of making the shot. He showed no more emotion than if it had been a practice shot, but he knew a miss would give Bobby Jones the championship. He took careful aim, and then stepped up to the ball. Back came his putter. It hit the ball firmly. The next sound was the rattle in the cup.

Both Bobby and Cruikshank had a score of 296 for the 72 holes—a mark just eight strokes more than par.

Jones, classed as a champion on the eighteenth green—the same place that Cruikshank won a right to a play-off for it.

Jones' second ball was in a pit to the right of the hole. He could have taken an easy out. He had done it before, but as often happens, in golf, he fumbled the shot at the wrong time. It was his first "dub" of the day. It took him four to get on the green and two to sink the ball. This gave him a six—the only one of the afternoon card.

The two will stage a play-off over the same route here Sunday at 2 p. m. The match is scheduled for 18 holes but in case of a tie, they will continue until one or the other wins.

Cruikshank came to this country from Scotland about two years ago. He was an amateur there. Some of the golf fans had "heard of him" when in last year's national open championship at Skokie, he tied for thirteenth place.

Jack Hutchinson who led the field for the first half of the tournament came back in 38, which gave him an afternoon round of 78. This brought his total to 302, six strokes behind Jones.

Hutchinson dropped further back this afternoon when he turned his first nine in 40. He would have to come back in 32, three under par to have tied Jones.

Practically the only man having a good chance to catch Jones was Cruikshank. He was one over par for the first five holes of the afternoon. He lost one stroke on the first hole.

Walter Hagen had a chance to make up five strokes and the Bobby, but he was four over par for the first five and his chances were slim.

Hait was eliminated as a contender when he did his first afternoon round in 41, four over par.

Jones played even more brilliantly in the first five holes of the afternoon than he did on the return journey in the morning. His drive was in the rough on the first, and he was over par one with a five, but he made that up on the fifth when he sank a birdie. His play for the five holes evened up at exactly par and strengthened his hold on the lead.

Hoylake Next Site Of British Open Race
WASHINGTON, July 14.—British golfers have no time in arranging for the next championship tournament once their current meetings are a matter of history.

Following the amateur event at Deal, it was decided that the 1934 open golf championship will be decided over the links of the Royal Liverpool Golf Club at Hoylake and that the amateur championship will be played at St. Andrews.

Incidentally, it has also been decided to have the amateur event in May and the open in June, the definite dates to be fixed later.

All of which puts it squarely up to the Professional Golfers' Association on this side of the water. When first the 1923 British date were announced, they had made the decision that the royal and amateur events at St. Andrews shift to the 19th in order to make it possible for machinica contestants to play abroad and return in time for their open meeting here, which was to have been held in June.

The R. and A., however, could not see the way clear to making a change this season, but made vague promises as to 1934.

Two Ex-Big Leaguers Doing Well in Sticks

DES MOINES, Ia., July 14.—Youth has nothing on two veterans—Johnny Corriden and Polly McLarry, who are helping make baseball history for the local Western League club. Corriden is having his first experience as a manager in addition to playing the left field garden, while McLarry is carrying around first base in the style he showed when he was with three major league clubs. Corriden is on the verge of celebrating his thirty-sixth birthday. The official records show that he is leading the league for driving runs. McLarry in the past two weeks has come out of a batting slump that had him enthralled during the early part of the season and he is now smacking the ball to all corners. He is among the leading five hitters in the circuit and also ranks right at the top in fielding. He is rather slow in running bases, but outside of that he can show the youngsters a lot of the fine points of the game.

ARRIVAL OF HENRY REVIVES DETROIT HOPE

Pennant hopes were revived in Brooklyn as a result of Frank (Dutch) Henry's brilliant shutout victory over the Chicago Cubs Tuesday, 9 to 0.

Henry, discarded by the St. Louis Browns, has pitched only two games for the Robins, but both of them have been shutouts. Several weeks ago he made his debut and blanked the champion Giants. Tuesday he walked but two batters and did not allow a run to reach third until the eighth inning. An error helped the visitors to fill the bases in this session, but Henry cool under fire, quickly checked the rally.

Henry has a "world of stuff." Manager Robinson of the Dodgers said after the game.

PRISON BALL TEAM ON TOUR WITHOUT GUARDS

In charge of J. G. Duncan, secretary to Warden J. H. Townsend, the Oklahoma penitentiary baseball team journeyed from McAlester, Okla., to Denison without a guard and defeated the "Kat" Boosters 6 to 5. Members of the team are under sentence of from one year to life, not a trusty being among them. This is the first time the Oklahoma prisoners have played an out of state team on foreign soil, according to Duncan.

GREASY JACKET REAL OLD FOOTBALL TRICK

Centre college's "Sing Sing shift," which caused so much discussion and amusement among football fans last season, recalls to those who have followed the game for some years such earlier sensations as the Carlisle trick of hiding the ball under a halfback's jersey and one of the great innovations of the earlier days of college football, the introduction of the canvas jacket by the Trinity team in 1890.

The bespectacled baseball player is as much of a rarity in college baseball as he is in the big leagues, but the University of Michigan in its baseball season just past had a star southpaw—Eddie Gibson—who could not play without his glasses.

News' Mammoth Water Carnival To Be Held July 26 at Plaza

Tournament Open to All Comers to Name City Water Champs

Lengthy Program of Races, Fancy Dives, Bathing Girls Review With Snappy Prizes for Each Event on Tap for First Stunt of Kind

By BILL ARCHER

GET SET, fans, for the biggest water carnival you've been invited to in some time.

Thursday night, July 26, you are cordially invited to be present and take part in The Port Arthur News water sports carnival, which will be held in the swimming pool of the Plaza Natatorium, with Harry L. Coughlin, professional instructor, in charge.

No charges will be made for persons desiring to enter the various contests which will feature the program; no charges will be made for persons who want to watch the events.

How's that?

It's a real party—a live-wire water festival which The News is putting on for your benefit—and there'll be prizes for everything the entrants undertake to accomplish.

Beginning around the hour of 8:30 o'clock, Port Arthur's star performers in the water—fair ladies, diving men, boys, everybody who wants to get in on the ground floor of real fun will push off in one of the most production programs of its kind that has been staged "in these parts" in "several moons."

You've been enjoying the water carnivals at the Nat all this summer, you fans who frequent the place, but on the night of July 26, you're going to be given a treat you probably won't forget in some time.

The object of the tournament will be to determine who is Port Arthur's best amateur swimmer and diver. The lengthy program, which is now in the process of construction, with Harry Coughlin and the News sports department working out the details, will include a series of races and diving dashes, 200-yard, 100-yard racing contests, interspersed with 50- and 100-yard high dives, springing board dives and stunt swimming.

The best amateur fancy diver in the city will be chosen as a result of the contests, as well as the best high diver and fastest swimmers.

Aside from this feature of the program, there will be a number of comedy aquatic acts to be conducted by several prominent local swimmers, while Mr. Coughlin will add to the program with several of his classiest stunts. Coughlin promises to put on an exhibition for the occasion which has not been staged in Port Arthur this far, and which will be saved for the News water carnival.

There are no special rules for qualification to participate in the events. The occasion will be truly an amateur's night, and every Port Arthurian desiring to enter has the opportunity and the cordial invitation to get in line. The only rule governing the entrants is that each contestant who enters must file his or her name with the sports editor of the News before July 26.

You need not call in person at the News office to file your name as a contestant if circumstances prevent; just drop a post card, or letter in the postman's bag addressed to the Port Arthur News Sport Editor, bearing your name and stating that you wish to enter as a contestant in the News Water Carnival.

Qualification of the entrants after they have filed their names will be made at the Nat as soon after they have filed their names as possible, in order to prevent running the races "Get in line, fans. This is an opportunity to win some easy prizes. For the winner of every event there will be a prize worth having."

There's another bit of the program that will interest the ladies. That is something that will be conducted in the nature of a "bathing girls' review." To the maid wearing the best looking bathing suit, a valuable prize will be awarded.

This latter prize will be awarded on the form of the bath and the durability of the bathing suit for swimming purposes.

Judges, composed of the News sports editor and two others to be announced later, will preside over the entire program, deciding the best in each event.

The list of prizes together with the complete program will be furnished in the near future—meanwhile, fans, line up and get ready for the carnival.

PROPOSES NEW IDEAS FOR GIRLS' ATHLETICS

ST. LOUIS, July 14.—Dr. Francis M. D'Elia, head of the Temple University physical education department, plans reforms to permit girls to compete in all sports with moderation. Dr. D'Elia proposes a reduction in the height of the low hurdle in the height and weight of the javelin, and the weight and size of the discus. He urges the use of a rubber takeoff for the broad jump and the adoption of a special track suit modeled after that worn by men.

LEWIS MAY BOX KID WILLIAMS IN SOUTH

NEW YORK, July 14.—Phil Lewis has received a good offer for Kid Williams to meet Eddie Coutu at New Orleans on July 27, but is hesitating about accepting, as he signed a contract with the Panama Villa at Hoff's arena. Philadelphia has three nights later. Villa's manager has not signed, and Lewis says that if that is the case he will take the southern offer.

Oilers Meet Sand Crabs at Lincoln Park Today at 3

The Black Oilers and the Sand Crabs of the Texas Colored League clash here this afternoon at Lincoln Park in a double bill, the first game starting at 3:30 o'clock.

PAY 'EM WHAT THEY'RE WORTH

Tom O'Rourke Says Prices Coming Down

NEW YORK, July 14.—A fighter should fight for what he is worth, and that is what he draws at the gate.

These are the words of Tom O'Rourke, matchmaker of the Polo Grounds Athletic club. They mean something, because O'Rourke has joined with Tex Rickard to drop the boxoffice price of tickets to the big bouts in and around New York.

O'Rourke says $10 is enough for anyone to pay to see any champion, and so he has set that as the top price for the Eugene Cright-Johnny Dundee bout this week at that mark.

He sounds a sensible new note in the matter of promotion. He sees just as every other promoter in the country now sees—as a result of the Shelby financial fiasco—that very few people are going to pay $50 for ringside seats to see a couple of prizefighters slam each other.

The Jeffries-Sharkey fight at Coney Island in the old days, drew exactly $70,000, and the prices were from $2 to $10, with the exception of some $25 boxes clustered around the ring. The ten-back seats were fifteen feet from the ring.

Sharkey and Fitzgibbon fought for a $10 top. Terry McGovern mixed it with Frank Erne for that amount.

This marks a strong return to normalcy. Even some fights, where no championship has been involved, have $17 top prices around here. The only ones who would pay that are the gamblers. They are about the only ones that can afford it, with a few Broadway sports.

Johnny Kilbane Enters Business With $250,000

CLEVELAND, July 14.—After nearly a month's rest on his farm, former world's featherweight boxing champion, is ready to settle down to the life of a business man. His friends have estimated his financial assets at a quarter of a million dollars.

Johnny will become a business man without any regrets at having lost the title, although, as he says now, he felt regret when he staggered to his feet immediately following his knockout.

"No more fighting for me," Johnny said. "I can't fight any more, anyway. The old pep was gone in the Cright fight, my hands were bad, I had nothing. And to meet a little fighter of Cright's type you need everything."

"I have appreciated the way my friends rallied about me after I had been beaten. When I returned to Cleveland 11 years ago after beating Al Attell for the championship, 100,000 people met me at the depot. A few hundred of my friends met me when I returned from the Cright fight. They were downcast, but I want them to know that I am not at all blue; that I'm glad I'm no longer champion."

Johnny says his only interest in boxing in the future will be in being in Al Attell's ring, his sparring partner for a year, whom he wants to send after Cright.

NEW MEMBERS FOR IOWA ATHLETIC BODY

AMES, Iowa, July 14.—Faculty and alumni bodies of Iowa State college have named nine of the 11 new members of the proposed new athletic council at Ames, all subject to the approval of the reorganization plan by the state board of education when it meets at Ames this week. Two student representatives will be elected immediately after college opens for the fall quarter.

Prof. H. H. Kildee, E. R. Smith, B. W. Hammer, J. W. Woodrow, P. D. Paine, and W. F. Guard were elected by the faculty and George Kuhns and J. N. Burrows of Ames were appointed by the Alumni association, the latter to hold office until the association can elect next June. While these men cannot constitute the new athletic council until the state board of education has approved the new plan, yet they are sitting in session and acting with the old council which is giving the new men all possible assistance.

CONNIE MACK LAMENTS ED ROMMEL'S FAILURE

"If Ed Rommel had shown the form this year that he did last season the Athletics would just about be out in front," opines Connie Mack. "Rommel was the one pitcher on my staff that I banked on at the start, yet he has been the least consistent performer. Naylor, too, recently suffered a setback because of a wrenching knee, has supplanted Rommel as my hope for the fine being at least. A return to winning form by Rommel is necessary if we are to stay up in the race."

Flying Event at Frisco Legion Meet

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—An international flying derby will be held here during the American Legion convention in October. Aviators from all parts of the world will be invited to compete.

Rulings on Stymie and Steel Shaft Unpopular With American Golfers

Unless the United States Golf association places its house in order the game's devotees depending more or less upon its rulings for guidance will not know whether they are going or coming. Right now there are rules and regulations so obnoxious that wifely of the players never think of observing them, except when competing in tournaments where strict compliance with said regulations is made absolutely compulsory.

When golfers in a tournament get to making it up between themselves at the outset of a match not to play styles, yet this ignoring of the stymie is becoming more general all the time. Then again, when a club or association holding an event supposedly governed by U. S. G. A. rules, permits the use of steel shafts, there is an outright violation, even though such a violation may be based on common sense.

Tom Winton, turf expert and course architect, who came to this country from Montreal, Scotland, some seven years ago, partly attributes the rapid strides made in the game on this side of the Atlantic to the tendency on the part of Americans to experiment and try something new. There is a limit to the theory that what was good enough for our forefathers is good enough for us.

The better the quality and workmanship of a tennis racket, billiard cue, fishing rod or golf club, the better it will be for such who indulge in those lines, whether for pleasure or profit. It is human nature to want the best in the way of workmanship or tools.

Main, of course, and always will be in playing any game, particularly golf, no matter how perfect the equipment. With dependable clubs, however, the road to success is lined with fewer pitfalls. Unquestionably, too many when favored by sudden spurts of good fortune are inclined to become over confident, a state which in its way is as bad as no confidence at all.

GOLF MATCH LISTED
SHELBYVILLE, Ill., July 14.—The Mattson Golf Club will play a match with the Shelbyville Golf Club on the local links Thursday, paying a return contest following the match at Mattson on May 31. Shelbyville will play at Taylorville on July 26. These matches are preliminary to the annual tournament of the South Central Illinois Golf and Country Club association to take place at Centralia on August 29.

ARRANGE FOR BIG OLYMPIC

Expect 100,000 Auditors at 1923 Meet

NEW YORK, July 14.—More than 2,000 athletes from all nations of the globe are going to the French Olympics and arrangements have been made to seat 100,000 spectators.

Fifty-four nations will take part in 138 events.

It may be the greatest athletic carnival in the history of the world, thousands of times greater than when the Greeks used to climb over the mountain passes in the spring, taking weeks, to attend the first games on Mount Olympus.

A tennis stadium is being built, a village is being constructed to house the athletes, a municipal stadium for the rowing and sailing races on the Seine, a range for long distance shooting, an arena for boxing, fencing and wrestling, and fields and stands for the rugby football matches.

The track is the largest in the world and made of red scoria, formed in two parallel lines 120 meters long.

Work of the French committee has been greatly hampered by lack of money. The chamber of deputies, after the appropriation in May, but still the work has gone on and it is very probable that all the projects will be successfully completed.

The International Amateur Federation congress began discussions of the situation yesterday in Paris, Col. A. G. Milles, member of the American executive committee, is in attendance.

The University of Pennsylvania has offered Franklin Field, Philadelphia, for the try-outs, which are expected to begin about the first of June next year. The Hatted stadium also has been offered.

The American team will sail on June 18.

Miss Furcheim Star In German Tourney

BERLIN, July 14.—German women are today so keenly interested in sports that 250 competitors participated in a women's athletic meet held recently by a Nonkeln club.

The star performer proved to be Miss Furcheim, a member of the entertaining organization who had previously won championship laurels. Her club won the meet because she herself captured five separate events. She was first in the 100-meter dash in 15.7 seconds, after having gone the distance in 15.2 seconds during the eliminations. Then she took the broad jump at 5.11 meters.

The next contest she won was a sort of "pentathlon" of three events—100-meter dash, broad jump and high jump. And after she brought home the blue ribbon in the 400-meter and 1,000-meter walks.

Miss Furcheim, a Zehlendorf club put the shot 7.71 meters for a win, and a teammate, Miss Horning, won the javelin throw with 25.40 meters. The former also won the high jump, clearing 1.20 meters.

Gains Popularity

Lacrosse—the summer football game—is gaining popularity in the north. The increase is reflected in the recent matches of Syracuse University in England, where they trimmed all comers until they found the strain of an over-heavy schedule too great.

The Canadian-Indian game cannot be played effectively more than once a week, the experts say.

MURPHY LEADING 3-EYE'S BATTERS

Murphy of Birmingham has shown the others the way to the top among the leading batsmen in the Three Eyes league. He leads the list with a percentage of .380, having gained five points during the week. Dunning of Terre Haute and Maguire of Rockford have also shown a batting streak, being among the leaders this week. The shifting among the others has been slight.

Colbert and Fitzgerald of Decatur have each added a home run drive to their totals, the former leading, as he did last week. Hughes of Evansville has overtaken Blanton of Decatur on the base paths, the two now tying at seventeen apiece in stolen bases.

Among the pitchers, Moss and Atkins of Rockford have clean records of seven victories each, but Gray of Decatur is the actual leader with ten and two.

ON THE FIRING LINE WITH

"TAIR"

Eddie Price has organized a boxing class at the new Eureka Athletic club and is progressing with his pupils. Price is a popular boxer in the middle class from Atlanta, Ga., who will probably appear here in some exhibition bouts in the near future.

The past week saw so much rain slammed into the ground on Lake shore diamond that seven days passed without a game being recorded. The amount is an unusually bad condition, with water pools, standing all around it. It is badly in need of renovation.

The City League should take advantage of Mayor Park Logan's offer and get some of the tree dirt at Pottsville and St. Louis to build up Lake shore diamond.

A "sunder" which will be open to the public is a plan being perfected by the new Eureka club, which has opened headquarters over the half street on Pottsville street. Several boxing exhibitions will be included on the program.

Thursday night water carnivals at the Plaza Nat are proving successful ventures and drawing some of the best swimmers to the pool, according to Instructor Harry L. Coughlin. Among these who drew in special note during the past week were competitive Mrs. Mary Patten and Messrs. Henry, Red and Lawrence.

A ruling issued by the City League following a meeting of officials held in the chamber of Commerce Thursday night, decides a protest entered by the Island club (team for a game with the Gulf in which a blocked ball was claimed as grounds for the protest. The league ruling leaves the standing of the teams unchanged.

Three thousand five hundred fifty fans turned out to enjoy the Port Arthur News sports party last Thursday night, and stood up in the street to hear the return from Boyles Thirty Acres—which proves beyond a doubt that Port Arthurians would enjoy a little of the real stuff down here.

'IN MEMORIAM' SETS NEW PAGE

50,000 Race Fans Witness Chicago Classic

CHICAGO, July 14.—Fifty thousand racing fans today saw in Memorial stadium, owned by Carl Weidemann, Newbury, Ky., win the Illinois derby. Hawthorne and lower track recorded 2.5 of a second. The time was 2.01 1-5.

General Thatcher was second and Prince K. third. In Memoriam got away to a good start but Lord Granite was in front passing the stand. The running was then taken up by Golden Rule until the far turn where he faltered. In Memoriam and General Thatcher went to the front rounding the turn into the home stretch and in a furious drive down to the wire. In Memoriam won by a half length.

The Chron, even-money favorite, was held out too long and finished fourth. The winner paid 4 to 1.
